FARMERS TOLD TO AID PLAN

The Government has urged farmers to support a plan to improve the efficiency of the agricultural sector. The plan involves the consolidation of small farms into larger units, which would allow for more effective use of resources and improved productivity. Farmers are being encouraged to participate in this process to ensure the long-term viability of the industry.

People urged to start digging boreholes

The Assistant Minister for Water, Mr. M. O. Oduro, has urged farmers to start digging boreholes to improve their water supply. He stated that this is a crucial step in ensuring that agricultural activities are not hindered by water shortages, particularly in arid regions. The government is providing technical assistance and subsidies to encourage this initiative.

22,000 SPENT ON WATER PROJECTS

The Government has announced that a total of 22,000 units have been spent on various water projects across the country. These projects include the construction of boreholes, dams, and irrigation systems, all aimed at improving water access and management for the population.

Minister appeals for completion of centres

The Assistant Minister for Education has appealed for the completion of various educational centres that have been partially funded. He emphasized the importance of these centres in providing quality education to the youth and the need for the government and private sector to complete the projects.

The Minister has also mentioned the need for more resources to be allocated to these projects. He stated that the completion of these centres is essential for the country's development and the well-being of its citizens.

SELF-HELP SCHEMES VISITED BY TEAM

A team of officials has visited various self-help schemes across the country to assess their progress and effectiveness. The team found that many of these schemes have been successful in providing basic services and improving the living conditions of the communities they serve.

FOR AFRICAN PEASANTS

The Government has announced a series of measures aimed at supporting African peasants and small-scale farmers. These measures include providing access to credit, technical assistance, and improved market opportunities to help them increase their productivity and income.

The Minister has stated that these measures are part of a broader strategy to promote rural development and reduce poverty. He expressed confidence that these initiatives will have a positive impact on the lives of African peasants.

Experts asked to help solve jobless problem

UNIA's Minister for Economic Planning and Development, Mr. Mboya, urged delegates at a conference of Rhodesian economists to discuss the critical unemployment problem in the country.

WORKING ON LAND IMPORTANT

Mr. MBOYA

DELEGATES should remember that the unemployment problem and the poverty of the people is not a new phenomenon. It is a result of the failure of the economy to create enough jobs to absorb the growing population and an increase of more than 10 per cent in the 1970-1971 financial year.

Only one in six people in 1969 had any regular income. The unemployment rate had risen to 20 per cent in 1970. It is estimated that the unemployment rate in 1971 will be 25 per cent.

The conference is an advisory conference and is not a decision-making body. It is sponsored by University College, Nairobi, and financed by grants from the Ford Foundation and the Overseas Trust.

Mr. Mboya said that everyone was familiar with the severity of the unemployment problem and the poverty of the people. It was not a new phenomenon. SHORT-TERM MEASURES

Mboya could claim to understand completely the views of members and other expert commentators on developing countries and the knowledge of the members of the Rhodesian economists. He said that the Rhodesian Government had been particularly successful in carrying out effective solutions could not be expected.

Members of the Government would hope that short-term measures would have it with the necessary flexibility to permit the subsequent adoption of long-term measures.

They are allowed to be in the trade area which with this a chain of 'parks' is full of things to see. Several states have integrated the Game in human, rather than mechanical, terms, and will feature more and more, at work.

Some idea of the interest in the show can be seen from the fact that the number of animals in the show is expected to be the highest in the history of the show.
