MINISTER PLACES PROTECTIVE VAST cash potential

CONSTRUCTION of East Africa's wild life would mean the destruction of one of the mainstays of the economy of Kenya, the Minister for Lands, Fisheries, Water and Forest Resources, Mr. Sandys, said at the annual meeting of the East African Wild Life Society in Nairobi last night.

"To us in East Africa our wild life is very important to our national economy, for in wild life there lies a vast income potential for which we are an alternative area and which is our very unique heritage," Mr. Sandys said. "Now that independence had come to the people of Africa, who stood to gain most from their wild life, must not be in the forefront of the conservation battle."

GO AHEAD FOR NATURE RESERVE

Mr. Sandys said the Kenya Government was faced with "appalling depredations of game" by poachers, and he proposed that the poacher who killed for financial gain would be hanged.

"I cannot at present say what our final final policy towards national parks and wild life will be. The question of increasing the size of the hands of conservationists is a very important one, and I am sure that wild life, and these departments, are directly responsible for this vital industry, may lead eventually to a wider federal policy."

Mr. Sandys said the Kenya Government was faced with "appalling depredations of game" by poachers, and he proposed that the poacher who killed for financial gain would be hanged.

Ministry support promised

The Minister praised the Society for fostering their ideas on game conservation some three years ago and he hoped that most Africans would join the body. It is the society for its efforts in educating the public on the conservation of game and it had the full support of its Ministry.

The Society chairman, Major W. G. Raw, said that Mr. African Government on the preservation of wild life was very important. "We cannot but feel that the future of wild life in these territories is assured, and that those conservationists who had the full support of their Government."

Mr. Raw said that the action of African States in the past few years had been a "great success" and that the future of wild life in these territories is assured, and that those conservationists who had the full support of their Government.

Tension eases as air lift draws to a close

BY MIDNIGHT last night more than half of all the troops and supplies bound for Swaziland from Kenya had left Nairobi, and the remainder are expected to leave today.

An Army spokesman said that up to last night 75 per cent of the men — mainly from the 1st and 2nd Gordons Highlanders — had left together with 60 per cent of the equipment and about half of the supplies for the operation. About 180 Gordanes arrived in Swaziland yesterday and more than 300 are due today, along with vehicles and equipment.

The advance party of the 1st and 2nd Gordons Highlanders is to remain in Swaziland for the next few days. The remainder of the force will be moving towards Swaziland in the next few days.

Immediate plans

It is believed these British troops are to be sent to Swaziland to assist the South African forces in their operations against the guerrillas.

During the time that it takes you to read this another car has been stolen in 4 years? Perhaps not this time? ... but may be the next. Why load your car with useless accessories? Spend your money wisely on a useful NECESSITY SECURITY means PROTECTION.

your car, you switch on your SELMAR by means of a key which is attached to the ignition. The SELMAR is now guarded and its accessories. Just let someone try to steal your car and the SELMAR will sound the alarm. It will sound for 25 seconds. After this it will stop and automatically turn on the guard against further interference. An ignition immobilizer is incorporated making it impossible for the vehicle to be driven away. Remember... your SELMAR is guaranteed for life and once installed will require no further maintenance, and its cost is being met by many of the leading insurance companies. Fans invade pitch after Sussex's thrilling victory

ONE-DAY one day cricket is a "knock-out" that almost certainly is the view of the well-behaved spectators who watched the quarter-final of the Sussex and Kent Cup.

The scores at Duncton suggested a Duncton win over the County Champions, Yorkshire at Duncton, were reminiscent of the scores of the Sussex and Kent Cup.

Transvaal top
Sussex judged their strength perfectly. They were all set to secure for the formidable local side a victory over the Transvaal side. The scores at Duncton suggested a Duncton win over the County Champions, Yorkshire at Duncton, were reminiscent of the scores of the Sussex and Kent Cup.

Drastic action
One-day cricket was introduced this season in an effort to win back cricket which has been declining steadily over the years since the ordinary three-day cricket matches.

Drastic had its critics
The idea had its critics, but there was more of the traditional agreement that something drastic had to be done.

Development company will boost larger Kenya industries

A DEVELOPMENT finance company similar to the Tanganyika Development Finance Corporation is to be set up by the Kenya Government, the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. J. E. Kiama, said on Saturday.

Speaking to the International Press Institute at the Royal College, Nairobi, Dr. Kiama said that while investment by non-governmental bodies was being encouraged, the Government was not going to sit idle and say all was well.

Government participation in some new industries which are expected to flourish in the high growth areas of Kenya should be in the form of joint ventures involving Government and private enterprise.

The terms of the new Kenya Finance Corporation should be announced within the next two months and should be designed to help with big projects. The existing Industrial Development Corporation would continue to participate in the smaller-scale industries and small industries on an ad-hoc basis.

Dr. Kiama continued that the Government was not going to sit idle and say all was well. He said that the Government would help in the form of joint ventures involving Government and private enterprise.

CHEMISTS SEEK TO CUT OUT UNQUALIFIED

THE chairman of the Retail Chemists' Association, Mr. E. Mwangi, made a strong plea at the association's dinner in Nairobi on Saturday that only chemists should be allowed to dispense medicines in East Africa.

Mr. Mwangi said that since the association was formed two years ago it had achieved nearly 100 per cent membership in Kenya and was steadily increasing ways of improving service from chemists. It was proposed to start a 24-hour service in Nairobi.

The association would also have the medicine to be a total responsibility. It is a total responsibility for the medicine to be a total responsibility.

Weigh words' added to Ministers

WHEN Mr. Mingo was speaking at a meeting in Harare last night, he was away by emotion and enthusiasm and, as he was saying, "I am sure that the Government will be able to do what it has to do in Kenya." He said that the Government was not going to be any more "soft" than it has been in the past. He said that the Government was not going to be any more "soft" than it has been in the past. He said that the Government was not going to be any more "soft" than it has been in the past.

Mujimbo has stopped possible bloodshed

THE inference from outside countries and personal medical prognosis should not be overlooked by leaders that they fail to face the internal facts in Kenya. New DOUGLAS DC-9 will double world's jet routes

Compact twin jet airplane just announced will use short runways... operate efficiently on routes as short as 100 miles... bring jet service to hundreds of cities now restricted to propeller operations.

Now, just when it is needed most, Douglas makes a major marketing and service breakthrough for the airlines... for the U.S. aircraft industry... and for travelers with the promise of fast, comfortable jet transportation where it has never before been available.

The key that unlocks the door to jet service in smaller communities with short runways and makes economically possible airline operations on routes as short as 100 miles is the new Douglas DC-9.

This latest member of the long and proud line of dependable Douglas transports is specifically designed to operate efficiently and with the highest profit potential at the shortest possible jet ranges. For instance, it could return a profit to an airline operator with fewer passengers than any jetliner now in service. And it will operate efficiently at the normal altitudes used in short-route operations.

Accommodating from 56 to 83 passengers, the DC-9 will fill the existing gap in jet service which leaves hundreds of cities around the world with only propeller equipment to serve them.

Production is already under way at Douglas and by subcontractors in 27 states and Canada. Before long you'll be seeing the distinctive fuselage-mounted jet engines and high horizontal stabilizer of the DC-9 at airports around the world.

Eight-goal debut for Mascarenhas

EIGHT goals in his first-ever National League match in Nairobi helped Kenya to a 4-2 win over a weak Samia Union at Doonbain Road last night. Mascarenhas, the smallest forward on the team, scored a hat-trick and found the net another three times after the interval when he was on a high on a rebound. Several of his goals were regarded as excellent. He was the only player who kept goals for the Kenya goalkeeper Al should have easily stopped at least three of them. Mascarenhas did not score until he had dropped the ball. He was then helped by his good work to tap it over the line. Mascarenhas had a hat-trick in his first match in the National League. He scored three goals in the first half and two in the second. He was the only player who scored in the match.

Spacewoman has liking for perfume and stiletto heels

ANGELINA TERESHKOVA, the 26-year-old Russian cosmonaut, met President Kenyatta in Nairobi on the first night wearing an elegant blue dress and heels, according to the British Press agency. The cosmonaut's dress looked quite out of place on the "curves of the past". The suit is a dispatch from the USSR.

She said she was embarrassed when she first met journalists as the woman in a blue dress in Nairobi. VI she met her first husband, she had a divorce. The agency said Miss Tereshkova's looks differed somewhat from those worn by the male cosmonauts. She was on the left side of a dispatch from a snow-white dove flying in the sky.

The world's first astronaut may be tough—but she is also very feminine. Russian space news reports yesterday.

She is wearing a blue dress—her first dress in space—her hair is styled in waves and her eyes are heavily lined. She has been called the "space beauty" by the press.

Statement is expected in London today

STANDARD STAFF REPORTS - LONDON.
INDEPENDENCE for Kenya by the end of the year, preceded by a final conference at Marlborough House, London, in October, is expected to be announced today after the final meeting between the Colonial Secretary and the Kenya Ministerial delegation.

Talks with the delegation have proceeded smoothly but late on Monday Mr. Sandys suddenly decided to consult the Governor, Mr. Macdonald, on several points and they were expected to end on Tuesday last night.

For this reason the Colonial Secretary cancelled his appointment with the Kenya Ministers — Mr. Mwangi (Justice and Constitutional Affairs), Mr. Koinange (Pan-African Affairs) and Mr. Mumbuni (Minister of State) — and they accepted their flight to Nairobi last night.

First Whitehall acceptance

Drafting continues on the Colonial Office statement, which it is understood will announce Britain's intention regarding independence by the end of the year but not give any firm date for that, or for the conference.

The statement is, nevertheless, important as the first public indication of Whitehall's acceptance of an accelerated timetable. Mr. Sandys is understood to have consulted the Governor purely on planning and timing, not policy.

NO ACTION ON HOLIDAY PLANNED

The Government will do nothing about the arrest of the Chief Magistrate in granting holiday last Monday to celebrate the birth of the United Kingdom's Minister of Education Mr. Clegg.

The Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Education, B. M. Kettle, said that he was queried about the holiday by the House of Commons.

He thought that the Chief Magistrate had been granted the holiday as a ceremonial occasion.

Additional inquiries could have an effect on the holiday.

They have been charged with inciting the strike.

Speculation on future of U.K. Premier

The crucial question being asked by British politicians yesterday was not whether Mr. Macdonald would resign as Prime Minister — but how soon.

There was a wide belief in parliamentary circles that the Conservative Party and Government might find themselves with a new leader in August. In Government quarters, however, there seemed to be no evidence that the Prime Minister was planning an early and dramatic departure from office.

BRITAIN would not consider involvement in the attempt to oust Mr. Macdonald as Prime Minister, Mr. Macdonald announced yesterday.

Mr. Macdonald said that it was not in Britain's interest to become involved in the attempt to oust Mr. Macdonald as Prime Minister.

MR. KROGHBERG opened a meeting to discuss the situation in the Congo.

Mr. Kroghberg said that the situation in the Congo was a matter of concern to the United Kingdom.

SCHOOL FEES HIT BY THE BUDGET

NO doubt the Kenya Budget is least skillfully drafted and some of the items are legitimate but nevertheless I do not like to let pass unchallenged Mr. G.

for those who have less money or for those who are poor.

The budgetary provision of 200 million shillings

it is a necessary one for

Private investors major role in the new Kenya

Private investment, both from overseas and domestic sources, has a major role to play in the development of Kenya, the Kenya Government announced in a Seasonal Paper tabled in the House of Representatives yesterday afternoon. The paper bears the title "Observations on the Development of an Economic Survey Mission from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development".

The Government considers that one of its main tasks during the next five-year period lies in creating conditions and providing services under which it is designed to encourage private investment. As the Minister stated, the time was not ripe, nor were resources available, for a Government to invest in the private sector in order to encourage and agricultural development.

General agreement with the approach, which is to be fully developed in the provision of capital for industrial and agricultural development, is that the Government should be able to raise funds from overseas and domestic sources and that this should be the primary method of financing the country's development.

IMMEDIATE PROBLEM

The Government emphasizes the view that the main emphasis should be placed on measures to improve production rather than on welfare projects. Unproductive relief projects are considered to be undesirable.

Sound development projects in themselves will not create the necessary conditions for growth. It is the Government's policy to encourage contributions both to the immediate production of goods and services and to the long-term development of the country.

A recurring theme in the paper is the importance of continued agricultural production. The Government recognizes that agriculture is the main source of foreign exchange and that it is essential to the country's economic growth.

The Minister emphasized the need for the Government to continue to encourage private investment in the country. He stated that the Government's policy is to create a favourable environment for private enterprise to flourish.

Anganyika will have half share in £5m. oil plant

STANDARD STAFF REPORTER
 The refinery was signed in Dar es Salaam yesterday for the building of a refinery which will cost about £5,000,000.

The Government is to have a 50 per cent share in the refinery which will be owned by the Government and the private sector. The refinery is to be built on the Kilimanjaro plateau and because of its location, the Government is expected to give consideration to the provision of a conveyor system to the refinery from the port at Dar es Salaam.

The Ministry was asked why the estimated cost of the project had increased from the £3,000,000 mentioned earlier. The Minister said that the original estimate was based on a different site chosen from the present one and that the cost of the refinery is to be built on the Kilimanjaro plateau and because of its location, the Government is expected to give consideration to the provision of a conveyor system to the refinery from the port at Dar es Salaam.

Task now is to build a nation

STANDARD STAFF REPORTER
EVERYONE in Kenya must forget the bitterness of the past and work together to build a new nation, the Prime Minister, Mr. Kenyatta, said on Saturday.

Mr. Kenyatta, who was making his first official visit outside Nairobi since becoming Prime Minister, received a colourful and enthusiastic welcome in the Rift Valley capital.

He held a large crowd at Nakuru Stadium that where there had been bitter hatred. There was no doubt about the Premier's sincerity, it would have to be founded for the whole of Kenya and not just for those who had voted Kenya.

Opposition recognised

"We shall care equally for those people who gave us their votes and those who did not. There is no need for us to have proper ways of making their views known. The Opposition is formally recognised in our national Constitution and can play a constructive role in nation-building," the Premier said.

Standard, every Member of Parliament should bear in mind that he represents all his constituents, regardless of the needs of those who have been his political opponents as well as over those of his supporters.

Hard work

Mr. Kenyatta added that he had not come to empty promises but to hard work. He said that the Government would be a team working for the good of the whole of Kenya. He said that the Government would be a team working for the good of the whole of Kenya.

Rugby player makes debut as goalkeeper

NARURI All stars, though not quite living up to their name, made their debut in the National League last night with a 1-1 tie away the hosts, the local club, Bunnies.

Showing successful tactics of class in keeping with their smart all-English continental style, Nakuru earned cheers for the accurate short-passing, ball control and swiftly-mounted attacks, but they did not know things as much as their own way as expected because an improved Bunyore defence.

Keith McCullumson, best known as a rugby player for the Bunyore club and who hardly has seen the field since that time, was the first to come out of the Bunyore ranks to play the penalty area and in a powerful ending shot.

However, Bunyore's defence was not so good as it seemed. The Bunyore right half, Keith McCullumson, was the only player who was not in the Bunyore ranks to play the penalty area and in a powerful ending shot.

WHAT MAKES YOUR CAR ZOOM UP HILLS?

Plugs are vital to power—here's why:
 A good hot spark in every cylinder is what gives your car its power—power that you never lose when driving when you put your foot down. When ignition is less than perfect, performance falls off. But it never happens so gradually that you don't notice.

The fact is, Champion spark plugs are so advanced in design that they're guaranteed to give you a powerful life. From time your engine starts, they give a shock of pressure and a blast of flame power to the spark plug. At only 10¢ a plug you can have 4,000 miles of service.

It's even the most plug—Champion—will do 10 times as long as the most cheap, cheap plug of 1,000 miles.

40 new types of power
Instant starting Fuel economy that saves money the most

It pays to fit a new set of Champions every 10,000 miles
