APPEAL FOR UNITY OF TOWN AND COUNTRY

Address to Kite meeting

It is no other district in Kenya does the "frame of rigour" and "individualism" burn so brightly as in the Trans Nzoia, former District-Commissioner J. C. Levin, President of the European Electors' Union, in a public meeting at Kite last Friday.

He was expressing disaffection at continuing to speak in the area designated by him as the duty of the President of the Union to get round the distances near their views and outline the general policy of the Union to the country. He stressed that the Union was not to be a mere "club" but a body which would be able to help the Government in the various ways which it could offer. He stressed that the Union was not to be a mere "club" but a body which would be able to help the Government in the various ways which it could offer.

Pressing matter

He stressed that the Union was not to be a mere "club" but a body which would be able to help the Government in the various ways which it could offer. Flood stocks of textiles in Africa

JAPANESE manufacturers of textiles have cut down production by 50 to 60 per cent, and prices are dropping, announced Mr. M. Marita, a representative of a large exporting firm from Osaka, near in Nairobi.

He stated that a major reason for this was the decrease in demand for textiles in the East African continent. He mentioned that the Japanese Government had decided to reduce its textile production to 50 per cent of the 1946 level.

IVORY POACHING ON SERIOUS SCALE

Kenya Government help sought

THE Kenya Government is to be asked to help stamp out ivory poaching which it is stated has reached a serious scale in the Colony.

A memorandum has been submitted to the Member for Agriculture by the Game Warden, Mr. H. H. Fair, after a five-week tour of the "black spots".

It is stated that the Game Warden has observed a serious increase in ivory poaching in the past few months. He has observed that the poachers are using more sophisticated methods and are more organized.

MASS MIGRATION IS NO LONGER THE POLICY

Aim: A steady flow linked with capital

THE Policy of the Migration Council in Britain now is to encourage a planned and organized flow of emigrants from Britain rather than emigration on a gigantic scale.

This fact was mentioned by Mr. John Ambler, a London businessman and member of the Council, when he spoke to Nairobi Rotarians.

Capital, he declared, must be linked with any successful migration.

Mr. Ambler, who is visiting Kenya in connection with expert discussions on the utilization of steel by-products, terminated his remarks about a year ago.

Mr. Frank White, emigration lecturer in Nairobi, is putting forward a scheme for emigration on a gigantic scale as the only solution for Britain's iron-ore shortage.

Changed ideas

Since that time, he said, the Migration Council of which Sir Frank was the founder, had considerably enlarged its membership.

Now in excess of 75 members, members of the Press and industry, economists and

Rotarians would be pleased to see that such importance of East Africa as Lord Altroughham, Australian, New Zealand and Southern Rhodesia and there was no lack of support there.

Mr. Ambler continued by saying that as a visitor he was not the sumner to suggest how and where East Africa could best be developed.

He related that at the moment Kenya, with its excellently agricultural economy, was still in its infancy of development.

The East African Territories had many peculiar problems shared by other countries in the Empire but he felt that there was a very great future for the East and Central Africa.

During the coming five years, said particularly a very change would particularly if the many who had returned from the East African Territories were to come to him vital for the future of the Empire.

Kenya, he felt, the European population would be able to see no increase, and the British population would be able to see no increase.

The ultimate benefit would be a very change would particularly if the many who had returned from the East African Territories were to come to him vital for the future of the Empire.

Strategically

Strategically, the argument for the development of Kenya was migration on a large scale.

It was suggested by the Commonwealth Government that the Commonwealth should be linked with any successful migration.

There was a strong feeling that the Commonwealth Government should be linked with any successful migration.

There was a strong feeling that the Commonwealth Government should be linked with any successful migration.

An appeal

Mr. Ambler ended with an appeal to the Rotarians to agree with the aims of the Migration Council in Kenya.

It was their power to assist and encourage an increasing programme for development and settlement in Kenya.

Jacaranda Blight

Ladybirds imported from Hawaii to prey on the Jacaranda blight have been found in the South Agricultural Laboratories during the year just past.

They should bring a relief to members of the public whose gardens have been infested by the pest.

Once introduced, ladybirds have now been liberated in this manner and recoveries of both larvae and adults show that the insects are able to maintain a steady population in the country under local conditions.

It is considered that the numbers of the blight are being checked and the distribution of the insects is being checked.

The blight is a pest which has been introduced from Hawaii to prey on the Jacaranda blight have been found in the South Agricultural Laboratories during the year just past.

Capital

Investing in Kenya is a very attractive proposition for those who are interested in the development of the country.

The Government is now offering a very attractive proposition for those who are interested in the development of the country.

By A. K. Holland

Ida Haendel the violinist has produced a talent at once precocious and mature beyond her years. Indeed, it is in him with some justice been claimed that she is the greatest discovery since the advent of Ysaiah Krumpholtz.

Though not born in Britain, she made her home in London at the age of 23. Her mother, a pianist, was a member of the musical family of the Haendels, and her father, a violinist, was a member of the family of the Haendels.

COUNTY COUNCIL BILL EXPLAINED

Probably there was a more important reason for the introduction of this bill than the one stated in the explanatory memorandum...

Range of powers

Dealing with the powers of the various bodies of the county council, the bill provides for a wide range of powers...

After two years

If the council was elected in 1934, it would have been in existence for two years by the time the bill is introduced...

Borrowing

The county council would be empowered to borrow money for the purpose of carrying out its duties...

Things of beauty

There is a great deal that can be done to beautify the county, and the bill provides for the establishment of a committee for this purpose...

Flexibility

The bill is a flexible one, and it is hoped that it will be amended to meet the needs of the county...

Amendments

There were some amendments proposed to the bill, but they were not adopted...

M.P.'s seek to put hypnotists under medical control

I'm ruined in England," said Ralph Blake, a member of the House of Commons, when he was asked to explain why he had introduced a Bill to put hypnotists under medical control. The Bill, which was introduced in the House of Commons on March 27, is the first of its kind in the United Kingdom. It proposes that any person who practices hypnotism without being a registered medical practitioner should be liable to a fine of up to £100 or imprisonment for up to six months.

The background of the Bill is a growing concern among the medical profession and the public alike about the activities of unqualified persons who claim to be hypnotists. Many of these persons have been known to exploit the gullibility of their patients, leading to financial ruin and even physical harm. The Bill is intended to protect the public by ensuring that only qualified medical practitioners can practice hypnotism.

Other sources
The Bill is expected to be passed by the House of Commons in the near future. It is a significant step towards the regulation of a profession that has long operated in a legal vacuum.

GRANVILLE ROBERTS describes the development of the tea industry in Kenya and the work of the Tea Research Institute at Kericho, which was officially opened by the Governor, Sir Philip Mitchell, a week ago.

It is approximately twenty years since these tea bushes were first planted in Kenya, namely the tea bushes which are now being grown in the tea gardens of Kenya. It is a fact that the tea bushes were first planted in Kenya in 1920, and that the tea industry in Kenya is now a well-established industry.

BACK TO BERLIN

By Christopher Isherwood

When it became possible to visit Berlin again, I became deeply unwell. I was in a state of nervous exhaustion, and I had to be taken to hospital. I was there for several weeks, and I was very ill. I was very nervous, and I was very ill. I was very nervous, and I was very ill.

Still there

The street where I used to live is still there. It is still there, and it is still there. It is still there, and it is still there. It is still there, and it is still there. It is still there, and it is still there. It is still there, and it is still there.

Over-prepared

I had arrived prepared for a bad reception. I had heard that the Germans were very hostile to the Allies. I was very nervous, and I was very ill. I was very nervous, and I was very ill.

The Russians

AND then, with the fall of Berlin, came the Russian Revolution. I was very nervous, and I was very ill. I was very nervous, and I was very ill. I was very nervous, and I was very ill.

STAMPS By DERYK JAMES

It was just over two years ago that it was announced that the King of the Netherlands was setting on foot the issue of a series of stamps of a very distinctive character.

The designs to be sold were the work of three striking artists, which were completed in 1931 in London. It was announced that the stamps would be issued in 1932, but a year ago it was announced that they would be issued in 1933.

It is now announced that the stamps will be issued in 1934. The designs are the work of three striking artists, which were completed in 1931 in London. It was announced that the stamps would be issued in 1932, but a year ago it was announced that they would be issued in 1933.

Personalities in The World of Music BENJAMIN BRITTEN: An English Composer of World Stature

A RELATIVELY young man, a celebrity in the world of music, the composer of the six songs for voice and piano, Peter Grimes, on his triumphant first performance, opened the way for further successes that have made Britten, at 30, the outstanding British composer of his time.

He is one of the few composers of the younger generation, by the way, who has not only written music but also performed it himself. He has performed his own music on the piano, and has also performed it on the violin.
