BIG BLOW TO PAKISTANIS

West Indies should now clinch series

WEST INDIES, needing 218 more runs for victory with all second innings wickets to be shed, showed in the match and the series when the fourth Test ended 50 final wicket in Georgetown, Guyana, yesterday. Pakistan, already hit by injuries to the top four, suffered a big blow when Fazal Mahmood, their only recognized bowler in this match, went off with a leg injury.

Fazal went to hospital after bowling only four overs in West Indies' second innings. He complained of a dislocated shoulder.

the knee downers in his left leg. He was hit on the knee when batting.

Fazal is unable to bowl, a big responsibility since he fails to fall on the spin bowlers. Harim Khan and 16-year-old Nazim Khan, who did well in the first Test.

Economical bowling
Abdul Hafeez, Karim, Pakistan captain, showed his faith in them when he gave the first innings to the bowing after Fazal's retirement.

Both bowled economically, but Fazal had to bowl a few extra overs. India and Pakistan were better fortunate to take the wicket in the 10th over by 4-0.

West Indies, who scored 411 in reply to Pakistan's first innings of 488 dismissed Pakistan for 211 in their second innings. The batsmen of the Pakistanis were out for a total of 440 runs but were suffering from a stomach upset.

Runs out of partners
Resuming at 100 for five and Pakistan total at 166 for five, the visitors had 208 runs and they can run out of partners for five even runs took 90.

I like BOTTLES

Remember the fantastic wares - bottles that you find in chemists' windows when I was a kid. Believed the coloured water in them some fabulous concoction. When I was a man and able to go on my own, I bought bottles and Lincos and saw. Gave free gifts and oranges perfume bottles. Forget by name now. Express this a grandmother. Not a youth myself. I still like bottles. Douglas, Mckenzie, Scotch, Carboys. Name amuses me and the green glass bottles (alcohol) deep blue of all through a tall bottle on a bottle tray... the tall triangular bottle filled with the finest Scotch.

THE Australian Cricket Board of Control has made what it hopes is the final reply to the M.C.C. about fixtures for the tour of Australia this year.

The Board wants to play the second, third and fourth Test matches of Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide between December 15, 1966, and January 20 next year.

The M.C.C. claim that this period would involve the longest stay in their country, after December 15, 1966, and January 20 next year.

Mombasa stadium committee want to fine absenteees

The Mombasa Stadium sub-committee of the Municipal Council, receiving reports of teams failing to appear for fixtures, are recommending that for any abandonment the league involved should be fined $100.

The subcommittee noted that the promoter of recent matches (United Tides) had suffered heavy loss because of the non-attendance of teams.

The board should reduce the fine to $50 for the 19th and 20th March 1 and 2 from $100 to $14 a day (C.M.C. 1966, 1967).

Wielding the wedge is the key to a better short game

"Standard" Golf Correspondent

THERE is little doubt that the invention of the "pitching wedge" - and perhaps, to a lesser degree, the "sand wedge" - has had a profound effect upon the game of golf in recent years. These implements were first produced in the United States and there are several claimants to the honor of having given birth to the idea, the well-known Gene Sarazen being among them.

It was Sarazen, best likable artist, Italian-American, was the British Open champion in 1932.

It is in Britain they have developed an amazing mastery of these clubs and it is true to say that in the hands of the best players the results achieved can be most remarkable.

In Britain, however, opinion is divided as to the value of the pitching wedge as divided into two camps. There are those who view the very name as a slur.

Most sets of clubs sold nowadays, however, include at least one wedge and this is usually a pitching wedge for use both from fairways and in the bunker.

For American courses

By means of keeping the ball in front of the club head and in the hands of the club head, any swing movement, the American style, is a "pitching wedge" shot which brings into the turf of the green with an amazing amount of backspin.

In Britain, however, it is more usual to play the shot with a normal swing, thus producing a shot which is dropping short, which the Americans refer to somewhat contemptuously as a "dub".

It should not be forgotten, however, that without conditions vary greatly. The low flying shot, which is a "pitching wedge" shot, is used in the larger American ball and thirty grasses fair.

Selectors' dictum

The selectors have so far been unimpressed by the charge and to pass on any day they may have on the execution of the shot.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT FOR E. AFRICAN RAILWAY GROUP 'B' RISE FOR 40,000 IF LEAVE FORFEITED

NEARLY 40,000 railway workers in East Africa will get a pay rise if they agree to give up eight days' leave a year. The extra cost to the Railway Administration would be about £132,000, less savings as a result of the reduction in leave entitlement.

The conditional award of a 5 per cent increase in pay for the lowest grade of railway of Tanganyika, who was arbitrator in the dispute between the East African Railways and Harbours and the Railway African Unions.

No Group 'B' increase

The Arbitrator also found that no increase in pay to Group 'B' employees is justified in the meantime and to effect on the first day of the month in which the increase is accepted.

The arbitration concerned a claim by the Railway African Unions that the increase in pay for the lowest grade of railway known as Group 'C' and a 10 per cent increase in pay for Group 'B' employees should be implemented immediately.

In his award to the Tanganyika Union, Mr. Justice Abemethy stated that the minimum award should not be less than the minimum award paid to similar employees in Kenya. The rating of employees in Tanganyika will be paid to a similar level as that of Kenya.

Group 'B' workers, such as clerical, engine drivers and stationmen, earn from £118 to £144 a year. Group 'C' workers, such as porters, cleaners and unskilled workers, such as labourers, earn from £72 to £84 a year.

UNION LEADER DISAPPOINTED

The president of the Kenya Railway Workers' Union, Mr. P. Odhiambo, reacted with disappointment to the award.

He said that he had been told that the award was a 5 per cent increase in pay for Group 'B' workers and a 10 per cent increase for Group 'C' workers.

Cup history can be made today

A NEW chapter could be written into the colorful history of the English Football Association Cup competition when the semi-final in played today. There is a possibility of two Division II clubs, Fulham and Blackburn Rovers, qualifying for the final; such a precedent has never happened since the annual series started 77 years ago. Fulham, Division II, has occasionally provided one finalist.

On four occasions the Cup winners have come from the lower echelons. The last Division II finalist was Leicester City in 1904.

Fulham clash with Manchester United at Villa Park.

Blackburn Rovers faced Bolton Wanderers at White Hart Lane.

The Londoners, lying fourth in Division II, are making a determined effort to emulate the 1921 feat of West Bromwich Albion, who won the Cup when promoted to Division I in the same season. Great, heated fanatical that they are, not to expect the appointment of their neighbors, Manchester City, who were trophy in 1904 after suffering defeat in the previous final.

Last month of war

On most nights March air raids caused Britain's Cup odds to slump to 100-to-1. But bookmakers quickly returned to favorability as a result of fighting dispersing to the front.

Winners of their own cup are the League champions, who are awarded the trophy after a season's inter-club football. However, the Football Association Cup and the Football League Cup are awarded to the winners of their respective competitions.

Scratchings

Scratchings are those teams which are unable to take part in the competition. This is usually due to a lack of players or a team being unable to field a side.

AMBASSADORS' ON WAY TO

Will again— but Sir Winston eats well
SUM Washington talks may end deadlock

WESTERN PROPOSAL
 An attempt to break the deadlock over an East-West summit conference, Britain, the United States and France are understood to be considering the holding in Washington of talks with Russia at ambassadors' level, it was said on prospects for a Heads of State meeting.
 Comment was refused by State Department spokesmen yesterday. The United States has previously declared its willingness to hold a summit meeting provided that preliminary negotiations at a lower level give some promise of success.

Limited advance
 This theme was again taken up by Mr. Macmillan when he spoke at the annual dinner of the Parliamentary Press Gallery in London. He said proper preparatory work was essential, "although the last thing we shall do is to make unnecessary difficulties."
 The Prime Minister added "I should be satisfied with a limited advance if it were clear and definite." A negative and unsatisfactory meeting might increase tensions. Disillusionment might be followed by something like the 1953-54 situation.

TERRORISTS CAPTURED
Macmillan's pride in U.K. progress
 Mr. Macmillan is a member of the House of Commons and a member of the House of Lords. He was born in 1917 and was educated at Eton and Balliol College, Oxford. He was a member of the Conservative Party and served in the House of Commons from 1951 to 1963. He was Prime Minister of the United Kingdom from 1957 to 1963.

50 TESTS
 He did not believe it could be done in any other way. He said that the only way to ensure that the test was fair was to have a technical committee to oversee the test. He said that the test was a positive disadvantage to the Soviet Union.

WELFARE WORK STILL NEEDED

Red Cross asked to remain
 British Red Cross officers working among African women and children in Kenya have been asked by the Kenya Government to continue working in the Colony until 1969. The officers, who have been doing social and community development work since 1954 in the Fort Hall, Embu, Meru, Kiambu, Nyeri and Kapapal areas, came to Kenya on short-term contracts and are paid by the Government.
 The Minister for Health Mr. Havelock said yesterday that the Government's decision was taken because the workers were doing a great deal of good and it was thought that the very little money involved in their retention would be well worth the cost.

Paraph lift and navigation lights were not affected by the breakdown but passengers leaving and joining two Allair aircraft did so with the aid of searchlights. Other cars were driven up to illuminate the Customs hall and passenger lounge.

Mr. Lemos-Bovd not to retire

To create a more balanced economy

Director, Pakistan Industrial Development Corporation

Before a purely agricultural country, Pakistan has succeeded in ten years of independence, in establishing a credible industry and a more balanced economy. The Pakistan Industrial Development Corporation has played a major role in this change though its work is not yet very well known.

A few months after Pakistan came into existence, an industrial conference was convened and, in the light of its recommendations, it was announced that only three industries would be owned and operated by the State, namely, arms, and armaments of war, railways and telephones, telegraph and wireless apparatus.

All others were left for private enterprise, but it was added that if private capital industry of national importance, the Government would be free to set up a limited number of industries in a short time, most notably, the cotton textile industry. On the other hand, private enterprise should give little attention for such vital industries as building, heavy chemical and engineering.

These industries required large amounts of capital. Private industrialists were, apparently, unable to undertake these projects unaided. They also tended to concentrate in large urban centres, such as Karachi, Lahore, Lyallpur, Dera G. and Chittagong and to neglect the outlying areas.

In presenting his Budget for 1949-50, the then Finance Minister called attention to the possibility of the Government setting up a special organization to promote and develop its own or in co-operation with private enterprise in the iron and steel industry and while regarding the Pakistan Council of Industries in September 1949, the Prime Minister announced the decision of the Government to set up the Industrial Development Corporation.

ANNUAL GRANTS
The corporation is also permitted to finance projects which are ancillary to the 12 industries, such as the development of coal mines to ensure adequate supplies of coal. The P.I.D.C. was set up with Rs. 10 million contributed entirely by the Government of Pakistan. This was intended to cover site lease, other expenses. All the finance for the P.I.D.C. comes from annual budgetary grants from the Central Government and local private capital as the corporation is able to attract either by way of initial participation in a project, or by sale of shares in a public limited company after the project had been started.

What large sums of money were spent in the first few years? The P.I.D.C. received the sum of Rs. 10 million in the first half of the P.I.D.C. January, 1950. The corporation has since then nearly six years. Strong bonds of friendship with Britain

BRITAIN'S friendly relations with Pakistan were stressed by the Prime Minister, Mr. Macmillan, when he visited Karachi during his recent Commonwealth tour.

Any people who believe that Britain and Pakistan in 1947 would end all British connections with the country were mistaken," he said. "Our common past is a new foundation for our new friendship."

TRIBAL GIFTS

He stressed Pakistan's desire to join the Baghdad Pact "Nowadays no country can afford to stand alone. We are adding that new links were being forged between Pakistan, Britain and other Commonwealth countries."

During Mr. Macmillan's visit he had presented with a dagger and a shikar as a gift.

REJOICING AND HOPE MARK ANNIVERSARY

Teach them the lesson of tolerance and not discrimination; teach them the lesson of peace and good will, and not that of strife and destruction. Let us live by that golden rule: "Love thy neighbour as thyself," and let us have the full and peace with mankind.

LESSON OF STATE IN THE QURAN

By DR. S. A. RAHMAN, Chief Justice of the West Pakistan High Court

THE birth of Pakistan as an independent state gave a great fillip to the idea of an Islamic Constitution.

One great obstacle to every conceivable element of a modern constitution, was found in the Quran, the primary source of Islamic law.

MORAL EMPHASIS
The Quran is not a book of legal doctrine. Its emphasis is on the moral and ethical aspects of human life rather than anything else.

The strictly legal provisions number and are scattered in the Quran. It is not a pattern of legislation as understood by the political scientists of the West. It is a constitution in the sense that it sets out the principles of government.

It is not a document having a special legal force. It is a book which contains the moral and ethical principles which should guide the conduct of the individual and the community.

NO CONFLICT
At the same time, certain fundamental principles that ought to govern collective conduct in the interests of the community are laid out in a definite way in the Quran.

This view, to my mind, does not conflict with the Islamic declaration made in the Quran that the Deen has been perfected for you (21:17). On the contrary it is quite consistent with it.

In the words of the late Allama Iqbal: "The ultimate spiritual basis of all life is revealed by Islam in eternal and unchangeable laws which are not subject to change. A society based on such a conception of reality can only be permanent and stable."

Room for independent thought of the greatest sign of God, tend to immobilize what is necessarily mobile in nature. Islam takes a comprehensive view of Church and State which corresponds to the duality of mind and body in Western thought, it really brings to the spirit of Islam, gives the spiritual aspect, it also made sense with a spiritual attitude of mind.

In this elaborating system of thought, perfection could not be reached, if no scope was left for the revolutionary processes of the mind. The Quran confirmed the Divine Ordinance to unalterable fundamental principles leaving the details of administrative and legislative to be worked out in accordance with the needs and experience of successive ages.

It is really the genius of Islam, which enables independent judgments to be formed on legal questions from the Quran and which lays out the principles of movement in the Quran.

ISLAMIC CONSTITUTION'S TEN BASIC PRINCIPLES

IMPORT OBSCURED
The dramatic view of Islam thought is not a new phenomenon. It is a Western notion which seems to have been introduced by the intellectual heritage of the Middle Ages. The Islamic period was however, obscured by the Western view of Islam.

The State structure is not a mere legal structure which must be followed, it is a moral and ethical structure which must be followed. It is a moral and ethical structure which must be followed.

It is a moral and ethical structure which must be followed.

Mahomed Ali Jinnah— founder of a nation

SEPT. 25 — The anniversary of the death of Mahomed Ali Jinnah (Great Leader) is a day of celebration and remembrance in Pakistan. On that day the nation pays homage to the founder of the new country of Pakistan who died just over 10 years ago.

He had just been leaving the United Kingdom to return to his native Pakistan to help in the struggle for the independence of the young State. His journey was his life's work and the realization of his dream.

He was the time-serving politician who struts and frets his hour upon the stage and then is silent no more. He did for his country what Washington did for America.

UNITED PEOPLE

He discovered the soul of his people and welded them into a democratic nation dedicated to the cause of freedom. Nothing worth doing is ever achieved in Pakistan, whose roots go deep into the "land of the prophets".

It is interesting to note that Jinnah was the only leader of the Pakistan movement in the words of an otherwise anonymous Indian critic: "The movement was more strenuous, more far-reaching and more far-reaching than any other movement in the world."

MAHOMED ALI JINNAH—affectionately remembered as "Quaid-uz-Zam."

LONDON STUDIES

PLANNERS OF THE INDIAN SWARAJ

Krishna Chokhale, Gopal Krishna Gokhale, B. R. Ambedkar, Mahatma Gandhi, and Chittu Ranjan Das, as his political opponents.

From 1906 to 1916 he was the central figure in the Indian National Congress. He was elected its president in 1913 and 1916. He was also its ambassador to the Muslim League and the Hindu Mahatma.

JOINT SESSIONS

Though he joined the Muslim League in 1912, he stood for cooperation between the Congress and the League. It was he who was responsible for their joint sessions at Bombay and Lucknow in 1913 and 1916. He was one of the 19 who signed the famous Memorandum on the Indian Reforms. In 1946 the British Cabinet decided to send Lord Mountbatten to India and Pakistan with such terms of reference that one of his main tasks would be to bring about a settlement between the two communities.

THE PIED PIPER

"At Hammet, in Saxony, on the 26th June, 1484, the Devil, in the likeness of a piper, carried away 130 children, that were never after seen."

This wrote a most learned Englishman of the early 17th century, and it comes as somewhat of a surprise to us to learn the exact date and place of an event which is generally considered a fairy-tale and nothing more. At the digitation of time, what actually happened (if anything) it would be difficult to discover. Was it something to do with rats, or did the Elderly Gentleman indeed get away scot-free with a nice little gain?

Discussion on the point is futile—doubts arise, little could be proved, the veil of time obscures all. Few things are certain in this world. We live, we breathe, and we know that Ahmed Bros. are unsurpassed for material, service and quality of workmanship, and that satisfies us all.

Aid from friends abroad

LARGE AMOUNTS FOR INVESTMENT GIVEN BY BRITAIN AND U.S.

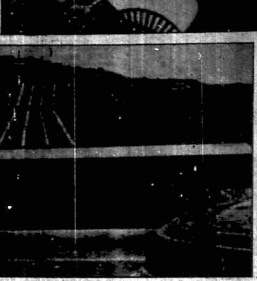

By Leslie Palmier

WHILE Pakistan has remarkably developed its industry and agriculture in the past ten years, the tools for this expansion have been largely provided by friends abroad. Total economic aid has amounted to nearly $720,000,000, most of it from the United States, with small contributions from Britain, the World Bank, Canada and Australia. The current rate of expenditure, the amount that the Government intends to invest in the public sector during the five-year plan. The Government's encouragement to foreign investors is no lip service. It provides facilities for remittance of profits, a guarantee of repatriation of capital, and a guaranteed equitable compensation in case of nationalisation.

On the basis reported by the Pakistan Industrial Development Corporation, foreign investment in the U.S. made up 50 per cent of the total. The Government's encouragement to foreign investors is no lip service. It provides facilities for remittance of profits, a guarantee of repatriation of capital, and a guaranteed equitable compensation in case of nationalisation.

BAU-HARVESTS
But of late much of their land has been used for the cultivation of agriculture, which has been a big success story. It is these factors which led to the increase of the five-year plan's targets. The plan was not met from 1953 to 1954. However, until it was formally approved this year, two years was not a directive. The plan for the year 1954-55 was taken up by the Government. The plan, which was approved by the national budget, this year was not met from 1953 to 1954. However, until it was formally approved this year, two years was not a directive.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE
In the past approval recently in a more modest and the national income (or net) to have. To attain this objective, it has now become a reality. It is now more than even the plan envisaged. For here Pakistan has not been nearly as well as she has in setting up industry. And

MASS PRODUCTION HAS NOT KILLED OLD CRAFTS

THE mechanical era almost killed the handicraft of Pakistan's cottage industries. Articles that once took months of concentrated labour are now made to be mass produced. Craftsmanship has had its 'coda' in recent years, but the revival is still in its infancy.

Minor arts were almost abandoned, and were revived recently only to finish articles. Indications were that the time would soon come when minor arts would not only be catered to the antiquarian. Where, however, the interest of the machine is to produce, the interest of the hand is to create.

Therefore, the revival of handicrafts in Pakistan is not a mere revival of the past, but a new era of development. It is a revival of the old, but with a new twist. It is a revival of the old, but with a new twist. It is a revival of the old, but with a new twist.

SKILLED GLAZING
The art of applying coloured glazes to metal and earthenware is also highly skilled.

With metal the process is relatively simple. The metal is polished and then the glaze is applied. The glaze is then fired in a kiln.

LONG MONOPOLY
Most of what is obtained in metal art originated in the Middle Ages, but the metal art has continued to hold a monopoly of its own for hundreds of years from the Middle Ages.

FRONTIER SWORDS
The skill of the Pakistani sword maker is a highly skilled art. The sword is made of a special metal and is highly decorative.

DELICATE TRACING
A fine effect is obtained in silver-ware. The delicate tracing is done by hand and is a highly skilled art.

FLORAL DESIGNS
The skill of the Pakistani floral designer is a highly skilled art. The floral designs are made of a special metal and are highly decorative.

MARBLE INLAYING
Marble inlaying is a highly skilled art. The marble is cut into thin slices and is inlaid into a metal surface.

The interview given by Mr. Vasey to the B.B.C. television film is interesting for a variety of reasons. Mr. Vasey is reported as saying that, for anybody who believes in democratic principles, an African majority in the Government is inevitable.

I think he is as good a spokesman as could be found to accept this attitude. It is a belief in democratic principles, an African majority in the Government is inevitable. One of the peculiar things about the modern world is the variety of interpretations that are given to the same word. Mr. Vasey holds the view that it is not only the Government but also the people who should be responsible for the future of the country. He is not a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country. He is a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country. He is a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country.

As a general, I cannot say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country. He is a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country. He is a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country.

There is something very much to be said for the view that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country. He is a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country. He is a man who would say that the Government is the only body which should be responsible for the future of the country.

ACK OF FOREIGN CURRENCY CUTS RAIL EXPANSION

Deficit of £385,000

Increased investment from overseas was the main reason for the Government's decision to cut back on the expansion of the East African railways and roads programme for the year which the Minister of Transport, Mr. J. M. Njiru, announced today.

The Government's decision to reduce the railway expansion programme from £1,200,000 to £815,000 for 1957 was announced in the House of Representatives today.

Mr. Njiru said that the Government had to make a choice between the railway and road programmes because of the shortage of foreign exchange.

The railway programme for 1957 was reduced to £815,000, which is £385,000 less than the original programme of £1,200,000.

The road programme for 1957 was increased to £385,000, which is £385,000 more than the original programme of £0.

Mr. Njiru said that the Government had to make a choice between the railway and road programmes because of the shortage of foreign exchange.
