Federation as best safeguard for democracy

By P. A. H. OKUNDO
Parliamentary Secretary for Education,
Kenya

KADU's proposed federal plan has the objective of establishing and maintaining a democratic Kenya a democratic government in a free society, in the world.

It is a down-to-earth plan that takes full cognizance of the realities of Kenya's varied peoples ranging from the calm and leisurely Coastal communities to the violence-prone tribes of the centre and the democratic Abalaya in the West.

Communities need to be given the opportunity to develop into self-governing units without destroying such of their local customs and traditions as may be desirable to retain.

The KADU plan for a federal Kenya provides for the possibility for it to be a strong central government capable of effective co-ordination and the democratic States to be able to prove themselves as good and not as a dictator to the centre.

It has been said and it should be so, that a strong central government and independent judiciary and a Bill of Rights should be agreed for Kenya.

So far as good but what is meant by the words "strong central government" and "independent judiciary" and "Bill of Rights" should be agreed for Kenya.

KADU believes that the whole of Kenya is the only organization which can take the responsibility for the whole of Kenya and that the machinery is agreed in accordance with the wishes of the constitution and the Bill of Rights.

KADU further believes that the whole of Kenya is the only organization which can take the responsibility for the whole of Kenya and that the machinery is agreed in accordance with the wishes of the constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Without checks and balances, the power of government is not as easily transferred. Kenya fully realizes this and it is also aware that for the checks and balances to be effective, the machinery must be so structured that it can be transferred as a whole without automatically each time creating a "dictator" in its own hands.

This machinery which should be built in the structure of the federal structure of government.

It has also been said that a government is a dictatorship. It has also been said that a government is a dictatorship. It has also been said that a government is a dictatorship.

It has also been said that a government is a dictatorship. It has also been said that a government is a dictatorship. It has also been said that a government is a dictatorship.

SOMALI FLOOD RELIEF

As a result of the recent catastrophic floods in some parts of Somalia, with the consequent loss of many lives and destruction among many other things, I understand that a number of Somali political groups have for some time been soliciting and accepting donations to help the victims.

These who contributed to the relief, and the homeless rightly deserve our sympathy and only the flood victims, but the appeals started here, however, nothing has been said or written publicly to show how the money was spent, and certain amounts that were raised for the relief, but being useful of good assistance - wherever they may have been.

It is a maximum period for some groups can be ordered into a plan of donation to the relief of the flood victims in Somalia in the way of the Government of Kenya in the country. I am sure that the Government will be able to do so, and I am sure that the Government will be able to do so, and I am sure that the Government will be able to do so.

10% MORE MILES PER TREAD ON NEW FIRSTSTONE RUBBER-CORTEX 455

Whenever high mileage you had from Firestone tyres before, new FIRSTSTONE BONUS MILEAGE cable tread 455 will give you 10% more miles - unless that you don't pay for. This extra is in addition to the long mileage already provided by FIRSTSTONE RUBBER-CORTEX as good as a discount. You will recognize Bonus Mileage cable tread 455 easily by the chevron, straight edge which replaces the zig-zag edge of the old cable tread. Fit a set to your car and run ... AND HAVE EVERY 11th MILE FREE ON FIRESTONE!

HERE'S HOW TYRE ENGINEERS HAVE ADDED 10% MORE MILEAGE TO FIRESTONE CABLE TREAD

New wider tread with the clean, straight-edge profile of Bonus Mileage cable tread 455 gives you even more Firestone RUBBER-CORTEX on the road than before and speeds the tread over a wider area. This means more rubber on the road to shear the wear, and in consequence, more mileage over and above the high mileage already provided by RUBBER-CORTEX.

Compact tread design with its tightly built pattern of cable tread gives you better distribution of load. It helps to ensure a long-wearing 'heel-bar' effect rather than a less-wearing 'heel-bar' effect, and the result is more mileage - over and above the high mileage already provided by RUBBER-CORTEX.

WEEK-END STANDARD INS AND OUTS OF AIR FREIGHTING KENYA PETS TO BRITAIN

By Lesley Clay

WHILE it is sad to reflect on the numbers of people who have made the big decision to try their luck outside Kenya, and have retired to Britain or some other European country, from the humanitarian point of view it is stimulating to learn of the large number of these who go to very considerable trouble and expense to take their pets with them.

Perhaps at this juncture it will be of help to learn just what has to be done to send a pet dog or cat — or other animal — out of Kenya and into, say, Britain. Usually, British United Airways, whose Africarگو service flies the animals to the U.K., receives a letter from the owner asking what formalities are necessary.

He is told that he will require an import licence and should, therefore, write to the Ministry of Agriculture, in Tulseoh, Surrey, some six to eight weeks before he wants the animal shipped.

Then comes the question, to which quarantine kennels in the animal is sent.

As there are no scales of charges, because of the U.K. quarantine kennels, it is recommended that at least two of these kennels be written to, to compare ratings, and to see if the animal can be accommodated.

UNIQUE HOSTEL

Some quarantine kennels will arrange to house animals on arrival at London Airport, which offers the best of all. There the animal remains until documentation is completed, and is looked after by the society. Then either the chosen carrier and/or the selected kennel, are notified of the animal's arrival and the pet is collected.

One to never forget things taken to Britain go through London Airport, as it is a B.A. airport, and all the necessary papers should be ready.

The rate for Britis animals to London is 14/6 per animal (21/6) or approximately 7/- a pound, chargeable on either the gross weight, i.e. weight of animal plus container (tinned food, water and feeding boxes, collar etc. when applicable).

Alternatively, it is recommended in measurements of the volume which the animal occupies when it is taken to the point of departure.

When more than one animal

Going to Nairobi, a building and a crashed Albatross take their 'last look' at Nairobi Airport.

is booked to travel at the same time, or a dog is of a large species, the chargeable weight usually reaches 45 lbs. (19.05 kg.) and at this figure the freightage charges are reduced, by 25 per cent.

Total incidental departure and arrival charges amount to approximately 30/- for each animal.

Containers for animals are usually made locally, and should be sufficiently large to give free movement, but not so big that freight charges are increased accordingly.

FOOD LABEL

Wire mesh is to be avoided, but if it is necessary to use it, then a cross woven mesh is best. The animal does not bark, howl if the animal does not bark, howl if it becomes frightened or nervous.

It is important that the opening to the container particularly in the case of dogs, should be at the end of the box, so that when the container is stowed in the aircraft, the animal is readily accessible.

What the animal is accustomed to eat or drink should be written on a label on the door of the container, and a feeding box and water bowl, with rough biscuits or tinned food for two days, should be sent with the animal.

Once the animal is handed over to B.U.A. it becomes the responsibility of that airline and it is put in the care of a specially trained livestock steward.

The aircraft is pressurized, and animals are experienced at least once between Nairobi and London usually at Malindi.

The journey generally takes about 20 1/2 hours with stops at Thaburnum and Malindi, roughly 18 hours' flying time.

TO AIRPORT

At least ten days prior to shipment, a booking will be confirmed on receipt from B.U.A. are notified so as to the address of the quarantine kennel to which the animal are to be consigned, also the U.K. Import Licence which will have to be obtained.

Animals not to be sent will be delivered to B.U.A. Animals not to be sent to the office in Harbridge Street, Nairobi before 4 p.m. on the day of shipment or direct to the cargo department at Nairobi Airport by 5 p.m. on the day of shipment.

Alternatively, animals, together with their containers, covering documents, etc. can be taken to the airlines for documentation, and the animals returned by their owners, while B.U.A. transfer the containers to the airport office for Customs formalities.

Then the containers are delivered to the airline directly by the owner two hours before take-off. However, animals are

On-loading a crate containing two dogs of Nairobi Airport. The crates are sent to the Superintendent with East African Airways, before a look at their papers, before crates depart two days before an aircraft had just after they have been fed and watered.

Holding station fills big need

At least ten days prior to shipment, a booking will be confirmed on receipt from B.U.A. are notified so as to the address of the quarantine kennel to which the animal are to be consigned, also the U.K. Import Licence which will have to be obtained.

Animals not to be sent will be delivered to B.U.A. Animals not to be sent to the office in Harbridge Street, Nairobi before 4 p.m. on the day of shipment or direct to the cargo department at Nairobi Airport by 5 p.m. on the day of shipment.

delivered to the airport some ten hours before flight, they are put in the Airport Holding Station, a building that cost £2,000 and fills a big need in the care of animals in transit.

The owner, if he delivers the animal himself, completes the instructions for stowage of the goods, form, and East African Airways, who are the local carrier, make out the consignment note and the owner is free to attend to administrative and outstanding matters.

BEFORE TAKE-OFF

East African Airways, as agents for B.U.A. are responsible for the feeding, watering and the handling of the animals on the holding station some 15 minutes before departure.

In the case of consignments of monkeys, which make up a great deal of the animal freight business, the Trappers make their own preparations for flight and are responsible for seeing that the animals are in containers in which they can stand up, and turn round, and have sufficient ventilation.

Special conditions attach to the dispatch of these and other animals, but they are large quantities.

Crates are placed on board aircraft and are not to be reached if necessary, and the correct label is to be affixed accordingly.

For all animals where the stop is waiting to go on board, a veterinary officer comes down to attend to any charges for the use of the holding ground late as follows:—Nairobi, 14/-, more than two hours, 20/-, Botswana, 20/-, E.S. 14/-, Congo, 20/-, Malindi, 14/-, Zanzibar, 20/-, South Africa, 14/-.

Wild life epic still worth second visit

REAR WINDOW (1954) (Drama) returns to the Grand Central Palace for a second showing. The film, which stars James Stewart, is a masterpiece of suspense and thrills. The story follows a man who is blindfolded and taken to a deserted island where he must survive against a group of wild animals. The film is a classic of the genre and is well worth a second visit.

LES GIRLS OF PARIS FIT THE JOB FAME ARE BRITISH

EVERYONE knows that Paris might chase excitement for itself, but it shows. Two people are exhibiting Anglo-American charm: the "Les Girls" of Paris—two of them are actually French—but the "Les Girls" name often has led to the name of the girls are British.

"Les Girls" in the Paris scene are not the same as the "Les Girls" in the British, writes PEGGY MASSIN.

Most of the girls say that when the second show ends, they go to a party at the home of the "Miss Bluebell Girl," who lives in the "Bluebell" district. They are closely chaperoned for their visits, and the girls are sleeping in hotel rooms or share small flats.

CHANGE OF WIN RIFER

England face stiff task in last match

INDIA played their second victory over England in Test match history at Calcutta yesterday, beating them on match by 167 runs with just over two hours to spare on the last day of the fourth Test.

The victory, which put India one day in the five-match series and gives them a great chance of achieving their first win in a rubber against England, ended a sequence of nine successive Test draws in India.

An excited crowd of 25,000 saw England fight hard for a time, but India always looked to have the game.

About 3,000 people are feared to have died in the Arctic region since the start of the winter. The British Antarctic Survey has estimated that the number of people who have died in the Arctic region since the start of the winter is about 3,000.

One of my major worries is to see if this outbreak may be considered the last straw for farmers whose financial resources have been exhausted.

The sources of credit available might not be so plentiful next year if the drought continues. The Government is planning to start a scheme to help farmers who have been affected by the drought and excessive rain.

LAKE PROVINCE TAKES STOCK OF FLOOD TOLL

Widespread havoc caused by rain

AFTER nearly three months of extraordinary heavy rains, the people of Tanganyika's Lake Province are now taking stock of the flood damage. With reports now received from outlying areas, there is little doubt that, apart from the damage to homes and crops, roads and bridges will prove extremely heavy.

In the period between October 4 and December 21, 24,338 tons of rice were received at Dar es Salaam for the province and 22,926 tons for the rest of the province.

The province's heavy rain has brought about a serious improvement of viticultural conditions, but the heavy rain has also caused a serious and eventual collapse of the drainage system. About 100,000 viticultural vines have been blown down and many are being cut by the rain.

EVERY week at least 400 new books appear on the market in England alone. This staggering number of publications includes many books on Africa. One or two are good, most are mediocre, and some are downright bad. It is therefore an event when a really great book on Africa appears. Such a book is Fly, Vulture by Mervyn Cooke.

It is impossible to review Fly, Vulture without also praising the author, and his work, which was to create the National Parks in Kenya. Although such a dream was shared by others who, like him, were worried about the disappearance of game in Kenya, it was Mervyn Cooke who became the spearhead and the spokesman of this group.

His 1942 campaign, against the Government, to save the people who lay the necessity of salvage some of Kenya's most precious heritage, finally achieved its purpose. Cooke and his collaborators were successful in establishing the Kenya Game Act, and they saved the one thing which gives their country worldwide prestige.

It is not enough to create the park, its integrity had to be protected. Mr. Cooke tells us in his introduction of the many dangers which threatened it. There were various people who were not satisfied and unsympathetic administration, to those who had not the time to see why there should be National Parks in Kenya. He has been one of the best backward of countries in game preservation and preservation in general. The game laws were drafted by Cooke and his colleagues. A certain Game Council secretary would not have granted the largest game reserve in the world, a National Park, in his view. Cooke's plan, in his view, should be a game reserve which should be allowed and should take place for attracting tourists.

Heavy odds. This was more than a little at a National Park on the slopes of Mount Kenya. The British Government of 1933, who had no regard for the many people who remained the plains for Kenya. Mr. Cooke and other far-sighted people, however, were determined to make him "unhappy about his country."

Both humanity and humor run through Fly, Vulture. There are also imaginative tales.

NICHOLAS DENNIS reviews Fly, Vulture by Mervyn Cooke, Director of the Royal National Parks of Kenya.

UNDER Fly Vulture by Mervyn Cooke, Director of the Royal National Parks of Kenya. Edited by Frank Swannerton. (Faber, 1953).

REVIEW

WE FEEL these most fascinating details of the war days of life in Kenya. Mr. Cooke has spent time when he got his hunting was respectable, without qualification — most people who were tried to kill, everything which was a game, and no place of safety for them, even in the past. The game laws were drafted by Cooke and his colleagues. A certain Game Council secretary would not have granted the largest game reserve in the world, a National Park, in his view. Cooke's plan, in his view, should be a game reserve which should be allowed and should take place for attracting tourists.

Hardly begun. Mr. Cooke suggests the view that the unique wild life of Kenya represents a special source of wealth, the exploitation of which has been a tragedy. There are many more people who are not to be seen as unorganized appeal to the people. They must be saved and made safe for the future.

Mr. Cooke makes some interesting suggestions which, if adopted, might save the wild game in Kenya. The author's view on this man and his work is not to be seen as unorganized appeal to the people. They must be saved and made safe for the future.

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Once again we are able to present to you a Balance Sheet which may be regarded as satisfactory, showing as it does a profit before taxation of some £95,000 against £118,000 last year.

As you are aware, it is recommended that a Dividend of 20% be paid, and, in addition, that there should be a bonus issue of one share for every four units held. It is our belief that, subject to prudent financing, members at present are inclined to prefer that there should be a maximum pay-out.

The year under review has seen a most remarkable transition of Governmental authority in Tanganyika, which we all trust will be fully justified and prove to be a great example to the other territories in East Africa, so eventually leading to an ever-growing prosperity.

Whilst our members may look for some expression of opinion regarding future trading prospects it will, I am sure, be appreciated that it becomes more and more difficult to make any forecast, and I can but suggest that we continue in an atmosphere of quiet confidence which in the past has been so valuable to those of us who are responsible to you for the welfare of your investment.

Last year, I referred to the increasing sale of non-exercisable intoxicating drinks, which still continues in the absence of controlling legislation. The difficulties of Government in this matter are fully appreciated, but the effect on the brewing industry should not be underestimated.

So far as our relationship with labour is concerned, we have not entirely escaped from the consequences of the introduction of Trade Unionism, but most of these aspects may be regarded as a storm in a teacup as, for example, the one-day strike we had earlier this week and of which some of you may have heard and I am happy to say that cordial relationship is the general order of the day.

To our technical associates, Messrs. Oranjeboom Brewery, and to our loyal members of the staff I would once again offer our sincere thanks.

JOHN FENTON,
Chairman.

December 29, 1961.

CRICKET ANNUAL DOGGED BY RAIN

RAIN continues to dog the annual cricket match between the Nakuru and Kisumu Sports Club and Nyanza. Last year it was washed out completely and last weekend it was washed out for the first time since 1957.

Big morale boost for Caldwell

TWO British bowlers gave the Kenyan cricket team a morale boost when they took 10 wickets in a match against the British team at Nakuru on Saturday.

Tender spot

Westcott had a shock in the 10th round of the trial which he won on a tie-break when a powerful gust of wind blew down the length of the hole.

Player wins again

Garry Player the South African golfer, led the professionals in the £25,000 Star Stage Open with a seven-under-par 65.

England's batting record

WICKET RECORD

England lose four batsmen for only 108

INDIA, needing only a draw to win a series with England for the first time, were in an almost impragable position by the close of the second day in the fifth Test at Madras yesterday.

India carried their first innings total to 428, and at the close, England had lost four leading wickets with only 108 on the board. Today is a rest day.

A record eighth wicket stand of 101 by the overnight pair, the left-hander, Raghunath, and Farooq Engineer established India's firm grip on the match. Two batsmen continued until the total reached 376, pausing the previous Indian eight wicket record against England of 74, set by Lali Singh and Anwar Singh at London in 1932.

India were finally dismissed at 10.50 on the second day, and England's batsmen were still playing Peter Richardson out of a crowd.

But there was no time when Ken Keswick, who was out at 11, and Dexter Dooly were late, but they were still in the end of the day.

Innings wrecked

With Barber's departure, all thoughts of aggressive play went and Smith and Farooq Engineer settled down to try and retrieve something from the day.

Smith, as he showed in the first innings, has regained most of his confidence and though he did not attempt to attack the first different period he had a different period in the first of the day.

Puffin was shown he could play a waiting game but he was not to be granted about on their day's showing.

UHURU DOG OWNER EXPELLED

No more orders on way says Government

TANGANYIKA recently brought the number of 'Uhuru' dog registrations to five with the banishment of a Swiss steel estate engineer who put independent badges on his dog's collar two days before Independence Day. A Government spokesman said last night no further orders were under review.

The order was served on Mr. Bernhard Braun, of Mloto Sindi Estate, in the Lindi District. He has been in Tanganyika since 1952. His registration came as an official in London years ago. He is a member of the British subjects, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilmshurst and Mr. A. D. Taylor, expelled after an incident in a Kengeru restaurant involving the Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury, Mr. J. D. Sunda.

A Government spokesman said in Dar es Salaam yesterday: "An incident order has been issued and is being served on Mr. Bernhard Braun as a result of an incident which occurred on December 7, 1961. Mr. Braun granted a permit for his dog to wear a badge in his dog's collar and paraded the animal in front of the people of Mloto who protested to him.

"He was heard to say that his dog was just as good as the people observing independence. There is no doubt that Mr. Braun's actions were calculated to anger and insult the local people and there have been other reports of similar incidents in the past. It is considered that such an attitude manifested as deliberately cannot be regarded in Tanganyika as harmless between the different communities to be maintained.

"As long as people of the attitude of mind remain in Tanganyika, there is a constant danger of incidents which could result in violence being committed."

High Commissioner reports

Mr. Bennett, a Swiss national and a member of an engineer on the Mloto Sindi Estate in the northern part of the Lindi District. He has been in Tanganyika since 1952.

British High Commissioner in Dar es Salaam returned from his first journey to the north of the country to the British subject town of Mloto Sindi, Mr. Peter A. Bennett, of the Palm Beach Hotel, Dar es Salaam. The Commonwealth Relations Office advised on the report.

The general opinion on the Swiss expatriate orders was that the Attorney General, Sir Kenneth Robinson, the hotel which provided the orders scarcely warranted expatriation and that the Tanganyika Government's attitude was unduly sensitive.

The Commonwealth Relations Office said in a letter to the minister that an advance warning had been received of the expulsions orders. The first of the C.R.O. boards is due to meet on the newspaper reports. Although Whitehall is not aware of the warning, it would have been expected.

KENYA HOTELIERS ALARMED, DEPLORE 'ARBITRARY' ACTION

KENYA hoteliers and restaurateurs, alarmed by the expulsion of two hoteliers from Tanganyika, yesterday called an emergency meeting of the executive of the East African Hoteliers' Association in Nairobi.

It is a statement issued by the president, Mr. J. J. Sullivan, the executive committee approved the emergency action taken by the Tanganyika Government.

Mr. Sullivan said that the Tanganyika Government's action would not only affect the hotel industry in Kenya but also the tourism industry in the East African region.

Congo troops 'killed' women

THE President of Katanga, Mr. Tshombe, yesterday accused Congolese National Army troops of committing "unimaginable massacres of the civilian population" in the Kasai area, north of the top-running town of Mambulu, on Wednesday.

He said reports of the troops' "methodical" killings and rape of women and children were being received in the Kasai area.

Mr. Tshombe said that the Congolese National Army troops were being ordered to stop their "barbaric" actions.

Record U.S. Budget MR. KENNEDY ASKS FOR £33,000m.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY yesterday presented to Congress America's biggest peacetime budget, calling for heavy increases in spending on defence and space exploration.

The Budget, for the 1963 fiscal year beginning in July, is a balanced one of $122,000,000,000 and Washington observers believe that the accompanying transmission for the production of a balanced Budget was the equivalent of further defence cuts being needed by an improving international situation.

British and U.S. frigate duel refought in naval history

By TRIVON BLAKE

AN unusual contribution to naval history, a book just published in London, Great Off Cape Asin by Kenneth Pooleman is a graphic history, illustrated account of a brief but bloody battle between a British and an American frigate.

The action took place off the New England coast near Boston, in 1781. At the battle of the book's title, this is "the story of the Shannon and the Chesapeake."

The action started by firing from the Shannon, which brought the Chesapeake to the aid of the Swamp. The Swamp was a British vessel and the Chesapeake was an American frigate.

A British victory was declared by the British command. The Chesapeake was captured and the Swamp was destroyed.

Political servants may have to drop the best assets?

RUSSLING IS A NATIONAL SIGHT SAWS MRS. SHAW

BAN RELATES ONLY TO POLITICS

NON-DISIGNED civil servants may, after all, be allowed to arrange a peaceful transfer of office, said A. J. F. Simman, the president of the Civil Service Association of Kenya. Mr. Robert Kibaki, the East African Standard editor, said yesterday.

After conferring with the president of the Senior Civil Servants' Association of Kenya, Mr. A. J. F. Simman, he advised legislation governing professions under which his application had been refused by the Officer-in-Charge of the Nairobi Extra-territorial District related only to political proceedings.

Therefore the action committee of his association had decided to press for permission to hold a peaceful transfer on February 10 — originally it was intended to have it tomorrow. Members of the Senior Civil Servants' Association were to join the march.

The action committee has also invited members of the Public Brotherhood, Duke Street, at Nairobi, to join the march. Mr. Kibaki said that the Kenya Government's stand on the issue has been "unpleasantly surprising" when transfer of power took place.

This particular point had come up at a meeting of the Kenya Government's staff on Monday at the Public Brotherhood, Duke Street, at Nairobi. Mr. Kibaki said that the Kenya Government's stand on the issue has been "unpleasantly surprising" when transfer of power took place.

The Government's statement, "The statement," said Mr. Kibaki, "has shattered the morale of non-political staff and is beginning to lose hope in the Government's leadership. The Colonial Secretary by his statement has shown that he is not a High Commissioner protecting the interests of the Kenya Government with respect to the transfer of power, but a High Commissioner representing the interests of the British Government."

Mr. Kibaki said that he had written to the Kenya Government asking for a clarification of the Government's statement. He said that he had also written to the British Government asking for a clarification of the Government's statement.

Mr. Kibaki said that he had also written to the British Government asking for a clarification of the Government's statement. He said that he had also written to the British Government asking for a clarification of the Government's statement.

Cavaliers likely to play Nairobi game

by CHARLES BOWEN
THE forthcoming night season, due to begin on Saturday, March 31, should be one of the best from the players' point of view.

It is probable that the break in the weather, first in the "long" rains of April-May, will be of the best for the "short" rains of June-July.

That was the position after a meeting of the Kenya Cricket Association broke up after lengthy discussion late last night.

And today the president, Mr. C. O. Oates, is to contact the other East African territories by telephone to see if they have had second thoughts about accepting a visit from the Cavaliers.

As it should be
Harlequin P.C. as a club and those in the continental countries, has done much to encourage all-round rugby and it is therefore of particular interest that the most recent meeting approved conditions to permit the club to play football.

W. KENYA LAND POLO DOUBLE
Connaught Cup held

As expected, Western Kenya "A" became Kenya polo champions for the second year running by winning the Connaught Cup at Ngara, in Uasin, F. Foster and N. Allen.

The match will probably be against an East African Cricket Conference team. If not, then the Cavaliers will face Kenya by itself.

When America's government gave aid this weekend, this is how he will be received at his return to earth. To left, Eugene signed the statement that the helicopter will be placed around the plane to assist, but right, he leaves the cockpit and, before take-off, is strapped up by helicopter for return to the recovery ship. Bottom right, the capsule is later hoisted on board the recovery ship.

CHANGES IN LABOR COUNCIL WANTED

In response to requests by Government Ministers, the Zanzibar Government Workers' Union has submitted a form of negotiating agreement and draft proposals for the revision of the constitution of the Zanzibar Central Labour Council which, it was felt, would bring it into line with the Whitley Councils of other countries.

Mr. W. G. Lawrence, a member of the London Civil Service Union, has been visiting Zanzibar as a representative of the Public Service International organization — to which the Zanzibar union is affiliated. He told a Press conference that he had been asked to help the Z.G.W.U. Speaking on the union's behalf, Mr. Lawrence said it had been concerned for some time at the inadequacy of negotiating machinery.

Appreciations MR. SEGAR BASTARD

SEGAR Bastard, who was shot in 1951 as an assassin while he was seen on film, was a native rebel who was active in the struggle in South Africa, he was in the district and started his farm. Experience on land led him to the sea before he left. Large and small boats were used to transport goods and passengers. Segar was a first class sailor and was a member of the 100 men on his boat. In 1951 he met his wife, Mrs. Bastard, who was a nurse. They were married in 1952. She frequently came to the island to see him. Through the forest and high mountains he was able to meet her more than a dozen times to visit her near the sea.

Students off to North Africa

FOURTY SEVEN Muslim students

Forty seven Muslim students were refused admission to East African universities in Nairobi yesterday from Somalia on their way to Muslim universities in Cairo and Morocco.

The students, whose names range from A to Z, were shot to be taken in Nairobi by 12 other Muslim students from all over Kenya.

Thirty-five of the party are to fly to Morocco for a five-week course, while the other 20 are flying to Cairo to take either a scientific or academic course at two Egyptian Muslim universities.

The entire cost of the students' travelling expenses and studies is being borne by the Kenya African Muslim Political Union, whose headquarters are in Mombasa.

The secretary of the union, Mr. Sheikh Ali, and the general secretary, Sheikh Ali, are accompanying the students to the universities.

Mr. Ali said that the reason for sending the students to universities outside East Africa was to avoid the Government's ban on the students who were considered to be a security risk.

The students are being sent to universities in Cairo and Morocco, which are considered to be safe havens for Muslim students.

LEPROSE VICTIMS FACE NEW LIFE FREE OF FEAR

LEPROSE, once a dreaded scourge, is now curable. Since effective treatment has been available in East Africa, victims have come to realize that they not only have a future but a present, for even during the cure they can lead comparatively normal lives.

During the past few years the whole concept of leprosy treatment has changed. With the introduction of new drugs, the infection period has been greatly reduced and prolonged isolation is no longer necessary. The vast majority of patients can therefore be housed in their own homes, thus removing the fear of ostracism which formerly shrouded the disease underground.

In the old days, lepers were segregated in hospitals or special villages; now they are treated by existing health services, supplemented by mobile units.

Such new methods, which have the approval of the World Health Organisation, were first introduced in Kenya, recently have come forward more readily, and

Petticoat government

A STRANGE custom has been noted in the United States, where they would make their own laws for the most part of the time for the most part of the time for the most part of the time.

There was no man called Rashad who met a beautiful lady, Lena, when he was on his travels. For a while Rashad was content to boast of his wife's beauty, of her wonderful large eyes, her smiling mouth and her happy nature.

One day he came home from his travels. And as he entered the village he saw that all the women were crying and weeping and that the men were all in a state of confusion.

Lena opened her beautiful eyes wide and said: "This is my husband. I have a daughter of a great name. I have a son who is a great name. I have a son who is a great name. I have a son who is a great name."

At last he was able to see his wife. He saw that she was all in a state of confusion. He saw that she was all in a state of confusion. He saw that she was all in a state of confusion.

When her husband came in, he was all in a state of confusion. He was all in a state of confusion. He was all in a state of confusion.

Rashad said little during the night, but kept looking in a very worried fashion at the strange woman who sat by his side.

At last he asked them: "Why do you all have eyes that look like mine, and a mouth as crooked as a palm tree bending on the wind?"

Then the oldest sister explained to him the whole story. All day we make baskets from palm leaves, and we sell them for our living. We sell them for our living. We sell them for our living.

FOR TWO WEEKS ONLY

After the first week he had been in the city for some time. He had been in the city for some time. He had been in the city for some time.

And it was almost his last before another European expedition reached the Antarctic.

The man was a little surprised. The man was a little surprised. The man was a little surprised.

There he stood in a state of confusion. There he stood in a state of confusion. There he stood in a state of confusion.

He saw that she was all in a state of confusion. He saw that she was all in a state of confusion. He saw that she was all in a state of confusion.

Church gaining ground in 40-year fight with Reds

By COLIN SMITH

FOR the last 40 years—about the time that the Revolution in France broke out—the Church in the Soviet Union has been engaged in the struggle between the Church and the State.

Now, for the first time since the 1871 Revolution, the Church seems to be winning. This is the opinion of the Soviet Premier in every religious group have become more active, holdings are more in their various parts more often, and many believe are more interested in religion than they used to and the churches are growing again.

Although the ruling party under Mr. Khrushchev takes no religious belief as a survival of the past, it fights it light to the one with more persecution but by propaganda—mass radio, television and books. The law no longer places obstacles in the way of religion.

don't become a SLAVE TO A LAXATIVE

Harsh laxatives erode your intestinal muscles. You make it impossible to get relief without even stronger laxatives. Don't become a slave to a laxative! Take pure Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Phillips' acts so gently it's recommended even for infants yet it's so effective that you'll even complete relief from constipation the first time you take Phillips'.

Here's why:

UNLIKE HARSH LAXATIVES Phillips' Milk of Magnesia soothes, softens and stimulates your muscles to move a bit of stool out of your system — without cramps or weakening after-effects.

SINGLE SINGLE PURPOSE LAXATIVE Phillips' relieves you by acting on the muscles of your intestines. You get your system back, and indulgence and laxatives are left behind.
