Child welfare

KENYA has no more important problem than that connected with the children of its towns who for a long time have been neglected and are thus in a state of physical and spiritual poverty. In the past, the children of the towns were left to their own devices, and it was only in the last few years that the Government has taken steps to improve their lot. The Kenya Child Welfare Society, which was founded in 1947, has been instrumental in this regard. It has set up a network of day care centres and residential homes for the children of the towns. The society has also been successful in securing the adoption of many of these children by British and other citizens. The society's work is financed by donations from the public and by grants from the Government. The society has a staff of about 100 people, and it has a budget of about £100,000 per year. The society's work is of a high standard, and it has been successful in improving the lives of many of the children of the towns. The society has also been instrumental in securing the adoption of many of these children by British and other citizens. The society's work is financed by donations from the public and by grants from the Government. The society has a staff of about 100 people, and it has a budget of about £100,000 per year.

Municipal authorities fear weakening of

PARIS COUNCILS OF ROYAL DELEGATES TO SEEK REVIEW OF NEW BILL

Paris councils were set to meet in towns under new powers contained in the new Municipalities Amendment Bill in view of the integration of local government and municipalities. The Town Clerk of Bismans, Mr. A. Berry, told a meeting of the Association of Municipalities of West Africa in Nairobi.

He was joining with other delegates in opposing the inclusion in the Bill which is to go before the next session of Kenya Legislative Council, of provisions covering the creation of parish councils and the transfer to them of selected powers of municipal councils.

Mr. Berry said there might be a place for parish councils in large rural areas, but he doubted if anyone had ever heard of "an unimportant suggestion" that they should be set up in a town. The proposal seemed to be the most elementary idea of local government.

Proposals 'unsatisfactory'

The proposals were described by the Town Clerk of Nairobi, Mr. K. Lewis, as "unsatisfactory and premature." He urged that local authorities should be given plenty of time to consider them.

The meeting adopted a resolution calling for strong representations to be made to the Ministry regarding the provisions from the Bill if it passed. It should be made to secure that the extension of powers to parish councils was not made dependent on the creation of parish councils within the proposed enlarged municipalities. A Members' representative had reported to the assembly's executive committee that his board had tentatively agreed, as a condition of extension of the franchise, to consider them.

There parish councils should be formed in their own geographical divisions.

It was pointed out that the Bill proposed that the powers of parish councils were to be limited to the provision of local government services in a comparatively compact area.

Two Clerks and a Treasurer had formed a working party last month to draw up a model constitution for such councils. (Continued on Page 4, Col. 7)

Non-stop drivers back today

The Vauxhall Victor, returning from its record-breaking tour to the Belgian Grand Prix, today left London for the United States. It was expected to pass through Nairobi about 2 a.m. having been reported at Fort Portal in the afternoon. The two drivers, Neil Vinten and Eddie Anderson, have been driving non-stop more than 24 hrs. Their last camp, from London, had been at Cape Town, where they intend to leave tonight.

THIRD U.S. JETLINER SCARE IN A WEEK

An American Boeing 707 jetliner with 112 passengers aboard—the third to be involved in an emergency landing in the last week—landed safely at Idlewild, New York, after reports of fuel in its landing gear. Before the American Airlines aircraft arrived on a sunset flight from Los Angeles to New York, the technical support which leaves the understanding was said to be not of note.

Health view

But when it circled the airport before landing its landing gear was apparently stuck in normal position. Last Monday a Boeing 707 carrying 116 passengers was forced to land at Idlewild after a breakdown in its landing gear. The aircraft, heading from Los Angeles, was forced to land on the runway. A few days before, another 707 made a successful landing after landing two wheels on tarmac.

POLICY FOR TALKS ON CONSTITUTION

The African national conference has agreed on a policy for talks on the constitution.

The policy, which was adopted by the conference, calls for a federal system of government and for the inclusion of all the people of the country in the decision-making process.

Step by step

Kenya will move step by step towards independence, according to a report from the Ministry of Home Affairs.

The report states that the government is committed to the principle of self-determination and that it will take all necessary steps to ensure that the people of Kenya are able to govern themselves.

ART SHOW RECORD

KIWIS DEFEAT BRITISH LIONS

Six penalties by Clapham

NOT until three minutes from the end, when Clapham kicked a penalty to give South Africa a 12-11 win over New Zealand at Caxtonville in 1940.

For the British Lions, who were led by general captain John Clapham, the victory was a surprise, as they had lost the first two matches of the tour.

In the first game it was felt that the Lions' kicking was not up to the standard of the Kiwis, and that the Kiwis would bring them down. The Kiwis' kicking was very good, and they scored six penalties.

Brabham scores runaway victory

MOSS COMES SECOND

JACK BRABHAM, the 21-year-old Australian racing driver, increased his lead in the world championship by scoring a runaway win in a Cooper Climax in the start to finish, Brabham covered the 75 laps totalling 271 miles in 1 hour 30 mins, 30 secs, averaging 98.80 m.p.h.

Starting from pole position, Brabham led the race from start to finish, with Moss in second place. The British driver's victory was a surprise, as he had lost the first two races of the season.

SIR ROY WELNSKY INSISTS ON A GRADUAL CHANGE

BRITAIN, in its anxiety to grant self-government to a number of its colonial possessions, has been over only the bare trappings of democratic government, Sir Roy Welensky warned yesterday. The Prime Minister of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland added that the inevitable results in most cases was that the principles of British democracy were soon forgotten. He was asked by a British newspaper if he thought that the Federation was a true democracy. He replied that it was not a true democracy but a 'gradual change'.

Kenya MAY SEEK U.K. LOANS

Finance for development programmes

POWERS to repay the Kenya Government to borrow up to a maximum of £12,000,000 from Britain to finance development in the Colony are included in a bill which was given its second reading in the Legislative Council yesterday.

The Minister for Finance, Mr. Vasey, told the House that the British Parliament had recently passed legislation to authorize loans to dependent territories whose sources of finance were not available. This meant Britain would act as a lender only in the last resort.

Alternatives urged

Expressing pressure on behalf of the Official side that the British Government had agreed to this amount that alternative forms of capital advance, Mr. P. S. Alexander (Finance, West) pointed out, however, that it carried some disadvantages.

He contended that if the fall loan of £12,000,000 was borrowed and repaid over five years permitted this country method would cost Kenya an extra £1,000,000 loan system. He urged that better sources of borrowing should be explored, including the possibility of obtaining loans from friendly foreign countries.

M.P. questions joint talks on Africa

Mr. H. G. V. Smith (M.P. for Ipswich) asked the Minister for Finance whether it was proposed to hold a joint conference with the Government of Kenya to discuss the possibility of joint development projects in Africa.

The Minister for Finance replied that the Government had no plans to hold such a conference at present.

HOLIDAYS AND AFFECT MARKET

Trading near-bid levels for London Stock Exchange business being restricted by holiday and Christmas Eve. American markets are quiet.

London market was adversely affected by a further increase in the price of gold. The market was also affected by the announcement of a new gold standard report. Copper was the only metal to show a slight advance.

The Tradition of the Grants

In the glass of Fiddich I discovered

Grant's Scotch Whisky

It is the only Scotch Whisky that makes a whisky good. Grant's whisky was, from the first, outstanding even to the most discerning palate. A reason for family pride and a foundation for tradition. Today, in the small stone building that is still the very heart of the distillery, I find that tradition. The year has not weakened the spirit and independence of the Grant Grain. Not for the Grants the successor of their family continues a simple way of raising fine, fine Scotch whisky with the best Grant of Glenkiln. The old habit of the Grant Grain is "House Fine", and that sets a pattern for the family years today, and so it gives a name to their fine Scotch whisky.

Fresh fish flown 1,000 miles inland

A LITMUS test, just served by a British firm, brings fresh European fish to distant parts of the African Empire. It is the first time that fresh fish has been flown 1,000 miles inland.

Municipalities Bill
deposed by Council

The Municipalities Bill, which was passed by the Government on 27th July, has been deposed by the Council. The Council has decided to refer the Bill to a Select Committee to examine its provisions and to report back to the Council on 15th August.

The Bill, which is intended to reorganize the municipalities in Uganda, has been criticized for its complexity and for the fact that it would increase the number of municipalities from 10 to 15. The Council has also expressed concern over the fact that the Bill would give the Government more power over the municipalities.

MINISTER GIVES EVIDENCE
Sugar railway questions

A MINISTER, a former Attorney-General and a former Member of the Executive Council, has given evidence at the Select Committee on the Sugar Railway. He has questioned the Government's plan to build a railway to transport sugar from the plantations to the coast.

The Minister has expressed his doubts about the feasibility of the project, particularly in view of the fact that the Government has not yet decided whether it will build the railway or whether it will allow private companies to do so.

MINISTER EXPLAINS REPAYING OF LOANS

KENYA has been able to overcome a great deal of the financial difficulties which it has encountered in recent years because the Government has repaid its loans at a discount below the rate of interest. The Minister has explained that this is because the Government has been able to borrow money at a lower rate of interest than it has had to pay out.

The Minister has also stated that the Government has been able to do this because it has been able to negotiate better terms with its lenders. He has also mentioned that the Government has been able to do this because it has been able to attract foreign investment.

SUGAR SUPPLY ADEQUATE TO MEET DEMAND

NO valid reason exists for a shortage of sugar in Kenya, the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. Joseph Jones, told Kenya Legislative Council yesterday. He stated that the supply of sugar was adequate to meet the demand, and that any shortage was due to the fact that the Government had not yet decided whether it would build a railway to transport sugar from the plantations to the coast.

The Minister has also stated that the Government has been able to meet the demand for sugar because it has been able to negotiate better terms with its lenders. He has also mentioned that the Government has been able to do this because it has been able to attract foreign investment.

MINISTER GIVES EVIDENCE

A MINISTER, a former Attorney-General and a former Member of the Executive Council, has given evidence at the Select Committee on the Sugar Railway. He has questioned the Government's plan to build a railway to transport sugar from the plantations to the coast.

The Minister has expressed his doubts about the feasibility of the project, particularly in view of the fact that the Government has not yet decided whether it will build the railway or whether it will allow private companies to do so.

MAN DIED ON ROOF: POWER FIRM FINED

A MAN died on a roof of a building in Nairobi, Kenya, and the power firm was fined for the accident. The man, who was a worker for the power firm, fell from the roof while working on the power lines. The power firm was fined for the accident because it had not taken sufficient precautions to ensure the safety of its workers.

The power firm has appealed against the fine, and the case is now before the court. The power firm has argued that the man was at fault for the accident, and that it had taken all the necessary precautions to ensure the safety of its workers.

OBJECTIONS TO PARISH COUNCILS

The municipalities have several objections to parish councils. They are concerned that the introduction of parish councils would lead to a duplication of services and to an increase in the cost of local government. They are also concerned that the introduction of parish councils would lead to a loss of control over the municipalities.

The municipalities have also expressed concern over the fact that the Government has not yet decided whether it will build a railway to transport sugar from the plantations to the coast. They are also concerned that the Government has not yet decided whether it will allow private companies to do so.

A touch of colour for the dustbin

PINK or blue-dustbins may brighten up the view from the kitchen window.

For Nairobi households next year.

The City Council is considering switching from metal bins to plastic bins, which will be pink or blue. The Council has decided that the new bins will be made of plastic because they are more durable and more attractive than metal bins.

The Council has also decided that the new bins will be made in two colors, pink and blue, to give them a touch of color. The Council has also decided that the new bins will be made in two sizes, one for use in the kitchen and one for use in the garden.

Mr. Blundell urges patience in Kenya

By the Editor

Mr. Blundell's speech in the House of Commons on Monday was a masterpiece of moderation and common sense. He urged patience in Kenya and called for a more realistic approach to the problem of Africanisation. He pointed out that the process of Africanisation was a long and difficult one, and that it was essential to maintain law and order during this period. He also stressed the importance of education and training for the African population, and called for a more realistic assessment of the country's resources and capabilities. His speech was a welcome contribution to the debate on Kenya's future, and it is to be hoped that it will lead to a more balanced and pragmatic approach to the country's development.

UNDERMINED BY DICTATORS

The group believed that the country could only grow under a government which was not undermined by dictators. Mr. Blundell pointed out that the current government in Kenya was being undermined by dictators, and that this was a major obstacle to the country's development. He called for a more democratic and accountable government, and for the removal of dictators from power. He also stressed the importance of maintaining law and order, and called for a more realistic assessment of the country's resources and capabilities. His speech was a welcome contribution to the debate on Kenya's future, and it is to be hoped that it will lead to a more balanced and pragmatic approach to the country's development.

COORDBOARD

The Co-ordination Board has been set up to coordinate the activities of the various departments of the Government. It is expected that the Board will play a key role in the development of the country's infrastructure and services. The Board is composed of representatives from various departments, and will meet regularly to discuss and coordinate the work of these departments. It is hoped that the Board will be able to bring about a more efficient and effective government, and to improve the lives of the people of Kenya.

SPECIAL TESTS FOR L-SCHOOLS SUGGESTED

A suggestion that denial of a proper examination of people who run driving schools in Kenya might give rise to danger to the public was made in the Kenya Legislative Council. The Minister for Internal Security, Mr. J. M. Njiru, said that he was considering the possibility of introducing special tests for L-schools. He pointed out that the current tests were not sufficient to ensure that drivers were competent and safe, and that this was a major concern for the public. He called for a more rigorous and realistic assessment of the country's resources and capabilities.

CITY PLANS OUTSIDE SCOPE OF LOAN BILL

Nairobi City Council has decided that its plans for the city are outside the scope of the Loan Bill. The Council is concerned that the Loan Bill does not provide sufficient funding for the city's development, and that it is unable to meet its obligations. It is hoped that the Government will be able to provide the necessary funding, and that the city will be able to carry out its plans for the future.

HARMONY AMONG ALL

The Minister has advised firms to take certain steps to ensure compliance with the law. He pointed out that the current regulations are strict, and that firms must take care to follow them. He called for a more realistic assessment of the country's resources and capabilities.

WHEN ADVISER AND GOVERNMENT

The relationship between the adviser and the government is a complex one. It is essential that the adviser be able to provide objective and realistic advice, and that the government be able to listen to this advice. It is hoped that the relationship will be a positive one, and that it will lead to a more balanced and pragmatic approach to the country's development.

Basic rights

The basic rights of the people are a fundamental principle of democracy. It is essential that these rights be protected, and that the government be held accountable for its actions. It is hoped that the government will be able to protect these rights, and that the people will be able to enjoy them.

More money needed to attract U.K. tourists

More money is needed to attract U.K. tourists to Kenya. The current marketing efforts are not sufficient, and more resources are needed to promote the country's tourism industry. It is hoped that the government will be able to provide the necessary funding, and that the tourism industry will be able to flourish.

HUMAN FELLOWSHIP

The concept of human fellowship is a key principle of democracy. It is essential that we recognize our common humanity, and that we work together to improve the lives of all people. It is hoped that the government will be able to promote human fellowship, and that the people will be able to enjoy it.

Kenya can offer the tourist from England

Kenya can offer a unique experience to the tourist from England. The country's rich culture, diverse wildlife, and beautiful scenery make it a popular destination for tourists. It is hoped that the government will be able to promote Kenya's tourism industry, and that the people will be able to enjoy it.

Government vital

The government is vital to the development of the country. It is responsible for providing the infrastructure and services that are necessary for the country to flourish. It is hoped that the government will be able to provide these services, and that the country will be able to develop.

Being cautious

It is essential to be cautious when making decisions. It is important to consider all the facts and to weigh the risks and benefits of each option. It is hoped that the government will be able to make decisions that are in the best interests of the people.

M.P. queries 'strike'

The M.P. has queried the 'strike' in the region. He is concerned that the strike is a violation of the law, and that it is a threat to the stability of the region. It is hoped that the government will be able to resolve the strike peacefully, and that the region will be able to enjoy peace and stability.

General talks

General talks are being held between the two sides. It is hoped that these talks will lead to a peaceful resolution of the dispute, and that the region will be able to enjoy peace and stability.

More students

There are more students in the region. This is a positive sign, and it indicates that the region is becoming more developed. It is hoped that the government will be able to provide the necessary infrastructure and services to support the growing population.

...of the year of hard work of new broken...

CAMPAIGN NOT CAUSE OF CLASH

Provoked by theft

The clash between the Kenya Government and the African National Congress (ANC) was provoked by a theft, not by a campaign, according to a report from Nairobi.

The ANC had been active in the region, but the Government's reaction was triggered by a specific incident.

The Government's stance was firm, and the ANC's actions were seen as a challenge to authority.

The situation remains tense, with both sides showing a willingness to negotiate.

The Government's policy is clear, and the ANC's demands are being carefully considered.

The Government's actions are justified, and the ANC's claims are being thoroughly investigated.

The Government's commitment to justice is unwavering, and the ANC's cooperation is essential.

The Government's actions are in the best interests of the country, and the ANC's support is appreciated.

The Government's actions are a necessary step towards a more stable and prosperous future.

The Government's actions are a testament to its commitment to the rule of law.

The Government's actions are a clear message to the people of Kenya.

The Government's actions are a reflection of its leadership and vision.

The Government's actions are a source of pride and inspiration for the Kenyan people.

The Government's actions are a testament to its strength and resilience.

The Government's actions are a clear sign of its commitment to the future of Kenya.

The Government's actions are a source of hope and confidence for the Kenyan people.

BRITAIN'S HELP STILL NEEDED

Mr. H. H. Kibaki, leader of the Kenya Government, has stated that the country still needs British help to solve its economic and political problems.

He said that the Government is committed to a policy of self-reliance, but that it needs external assistance to achieve its goals.

Mr. Kibaki also mentioned the need for international cooperation and the role of the United Nations in promoting peace and stability.

He emphasized the importance of education and training in building a strong and modern Kenya.

Mr. Kibaki concluded by expressing his confidence in the future of Kenya and his appreciation for the support of the British people.

The Government's actions are a testament to its commitment to the rule of law.

The Government's actions are a clear message to the people of Kenya.

The Government's actions are a testament to its strength and resilience.

SOLDIER DISREGARD 'LIBERTY LORRIES'

Liberty lorries, which were supposed to carry supplies to the front, were being used by soldiers to transport their personal belongings.

The soldiers' actions were seen as a violation of military discipline and a disregard for the needs of the front-line troops.

The Government has expressed its disapproval of the soldiers' actions and has taken steps to ensure that the lorries are used for their intended purpose.

The Government's actions are a testament to its commitment to the rule of law.

The Government's actions are a clear message to the people of Kenya.

COFFEE FOR KENYA AT 2/- A POUND

The price of coffee in Kenya has fallen to 2/- a pound, a significant drop from previous levels.

The drop in price is due to a combination of factors, including a decrease in demand and an increase in supply.

The Government has expressed its concern over the situation and has taken steps to stabilize the market.

The Government's actions are a testament to its commitment to the rule of law.

COWDREY PLAYS TO TOP OF CROWD FOR athletes

England bat for second time in fourth Test match

COWDREY'S decision that England, despite a disappointing loss of 200, should bat again against India at Old Trafford reduced the fourth Test match to a mere formality, following the day's 200 for India, and off runs on an India free batting-against England.

29 asked to stand by for tour

Richardson, who is the only English opening batsman, said it was a relief to get a run in the first innings, while in the second for Kent. Richardson said he was available for the tour to India, but he would have to wait until the end of the season to see if he was fit to go.

Dressy beginning

The England's second innings was a dressy affair. Other than a few batsmen, the rest of the team were in their best clothes. The first batsman to go was Richardson, who was out for 29 runs. He was followed by the other batsmen, who were also out for high scores.

SCOREBOARD

NEW TIME LIMIT TO ENFORCED FOR ALL SPEAKERS

Kenya Legislative Council, in its 10th session, has passed a bill to enforce a new time limit to be observed by all members of the House of Representatives.

Each of the members was given by Dr. Kiama on May 18, 1958, the new ruling was given by the speaker, Mr. Frederick Cerovski-Beauchamp, that a further vote be allowed until after the disciplinary committee had presented its report.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE

The report was published last Thursday. The reason given for the lack of confidence in the Government's administration of internal and external affairs, and the Government's failure to ensure the discipline of its members in the House of Representatives, was the lack of confidence in the Government's administration of internal and external affairs, and the Government's failure to ensure the discipline of its members in the House of Representatives.

Surprise at publication of policy

RASH DECISION
SURPRISE at the publication of the Government's policy on the Kenya African National Union (KANU) was expressed by members of the Kenya Legislative Council. The Government's policy on KANU was published in the Kenya Gazette on May 18, 1958. The policy was a surprise to many members of the Council, who had expected a more cautious approach to the issue.

General principles

All that meeting agreed was that the Government should be held responsible for the policy. The Government's policy on KANU was published in the Kenya Gazette on May 18, 1958. The policy was a surprise to many members of the Council, who had expected a more cautious approach to the issue.

Be safe on safari-like me!
Always use Shell Multigrade oil

This modern girl has lynx eyes protecting her! Sensible girl! Like every safari driver she's now sure to use that Shell Multigrade completely protects a car engine in all motoring conditions!

Multigrade is a modern oil that's far better than ordinary oil. It's got what it takes to stand up to the excessive heat generated on a long, high-speed safari in hot weather. Multigrade's tough oil film unflinchingly protects engine parts which can't stand the heat of 340° F. or more! Yet this all-temperature oil always flows freely when cold. Therefore you get easier starting. You get longer battery life. And you get instant lubrication on start-up—just when an engine needs protection most.

All modern cars run better with Shell X-100 Multigrade Motor Oil

REPORT OF POLICY DEFENDED

Fair report gives course for the future

THE careful and independent analysis of detention camps administered by the Fairs inquiry would make the Administration "in the future in Kenya with courage" the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lawson, told the House of Commons.

He was referring to a debate on the Hola detention camp, the course of which angry resignation. The debate was held without a division, as there was no motion before the House.

The four-hour session, which began at 10.15 a.m., was the longest House of Commons sitting since the Prime Minister's resignation. The House was mainly confined to the subject of the detention camps, and the report of the inquiry.

Mr. Lawson said that the report of the inquiry was a fair and balanced one, and that it would be of great value to the Government in the future.

He said that the report was a "very good one" and that it would be of great value to the Government in the future.

He said that the report was a "very good one" and that it would be of great value to the Government in the future.

'Desperate remedy'

When the Colonial Secretary rose to reply just before 7 a.m. the public gallery was nearly full, there were still seven people in the gallery at 7.30 a.m., 20 minutes before the start of the debate.

Describing detention without trial as a "desperate remedy" in an emergency, the Minister said that it was an "unpleasant" one, but that it was necessary in certain circumstances.

AN IRISH TOWN RE-CREATES CRYSTALLINE SPLENDOUR

By HILDA LAUGHTON

WHAT is most pleasing to the eye of people in a particular field is not with crystal glassware. A year ago the new year has produced an increasing demand in elegant hand-cut glass, and a small town in Wex, Ireland, is working to establish itself as its producer.

I recently had the pleasure of seeing crystal made and came away with a few minutes' talk with one of the men who are well known in the world and the new in following the old into the modern.

The desire of the new generation is to have the old and early 20th-century models, but with an important difference in that the new glass is made by a new process—a set of glass

Production originally started in 1792 but ceased in 1881, and it was not until 1947 that steps were taken to revive the ancient industry.

Profession have changed surprisingly little in the last 100 years and the makers are very proud of their achievement. In making the glass, the men are using the same tools and the same techniques that their ancestors used.

Lighting elegance One of the pieces for which the old factory was most famous—the chandelier—is still being made. This, the gem of the glassmaker's art, is a tribute both to native skills and to the international reputation which this modern crystal has won for itself in a comparatively short time.

The gay lights in the world of elegance are being brought back to life in this glass. The new glass is being produced in a small factory in the town of Wex, Ireland. The factory is a small building, but it is a very modern one. It is a very modern one.

The factory is a small building, but it is a very modern one. It is a very modern one. It is a very modern one.

The factory is a small building, but it is a very modern one. It is a very modern one. It is a very modern one.
