SAVING THE STOCK INDUSTRY

Kenya Government's Emergency Plan

The Government of Kenya issued last evening a statement of arrangements and proposals to meet the possibility of loss to the stock industry of the Colony from the effects of drought and the possibility of serious destruction of grazing by the threatening locust infestation.

their culls and aged stock. Not only will this help to preserve such grazing as may be available but it will strengthen the whole position of the industry. There are 300,000 head of stock in European ownership in Kenya today and a big proportion of them are in considerable proportion to what is normal conditions. The reopening of the factory is in itself of great importance to the country and every endeavour should be made by European stock owners to see that it is supplied with many head of disposable stock, as can rightly be called. It is also important that the Government should be kept advised of the owner's terms of the probabilities of the present situation as regards drought and locust losses and the active tribes are actively prepared to provide their full quota to the factory. The Government reserves and from the herds of aquar stock. An emergency situation has evidently developed about the factory and every effort must be made by the Government to see that it is not closed. There is a national argument of importance to the rest of the taxpayers, that every head of stock sent to the factory will reduce the burden which now rests on the public Treasury through the arrangements for the sale of stock.

The Glory of Britain

In South Africa Last Week

The Enemy Saluted Him

"The record of his worth will be a beacon to posterity, no less, as heroic virtue, combined with great capacity, is rewarded; but in any age, any nation, any conjuncture, Sir John Moore would have been a leading man."

By Claude Golding

Sir John Moore galloped forward to the Black Watch. They had no ammunition left. "Use bayonets, men!" he shouted.

THE order of that evening at Moscow was Sir William Pakenham, the Inspector of the Peninsula War. It appeared that within twenty years after that campaign, they would have laughed at Napoleon. For the name of Sir John Moore stands in the drawing-rooms of the aristocratic strata of England; "was wiped out with operations in Whittell."

The heroism legend was dead, assigned to the archives of history, which would not be resurrected until the dawn of a new century. But Sir John Moore was not dead. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen. He was still in the hearts of his countrymen.

NEW

SHELL MOTOR OIL

Stays on the job!

New Shell Motor Oil contains an exclusive mineral alkaline concentrate which protects the oil from spoiling off when the engine is at rest. It forms a tough protecting film against damage from corrosion caused by condensation of water, and when the engine is operating, the alkaline remains soluble at the highest temperatures and gives complete lubrication to pistons and bearings. But most engines wear occurs on starting—before the oil has had time to circulate properly—so it is here that New Shell Motor Oil gives the greatest service. Owing to its wonderful clinging properties there is no oil film already present at the moment of starting—where other oils might have been lost between starts.

LORD HALIFAX'S PLAIN WORDS TO GERMANY

No Yielding To Calumnies Or Force

REPLY TO "CONSTANT MISREPRESENTATIONS"

LORD HALIFAX MADE AN IMPORTANT SPEECH IN LONDON LAST NIGHT IN THE COURSE OF WHICH HE DECLARED THAT IN THE EVENT OF FURTHER AGGRESSION BY GERMANY BRITAIN WOULD IMMEDIATELY USE HER WHOLE STRENGTH IN THE FULFILMENT OF HER DUTIES.

Constantly repeating misrepresentations of British actions and motives in certain countries the Foreign Secretary said these things did not pass unnoticed in Britain nor did the progressive insights offered by his fellow countrymen.

Every issue offered to our people has been made a challenge to them. We have and we shall continue to resist only so long as we are not forced to do so by the overwhelming force of arms and aggression.

Every issue offered to our people has been made a challenge to them. We have and we shall continue to resist only so long as we are not forced to do so by the overwhelming force of arms and aggression.
