CLANSMAN WINS NAKURU BREEDERS' STAKES

'Chaser falls dead at jump in National'

SOME of the best and most interesting racing for many a day was seen at Nakuru on Saturday. The going was very good.

But the crowd was small that might have been expected after the rain of the racing yesterday.

Honours were very evenly divided between the two main races, the eight furlong National and the five furlong Breeders' Stakes. The only outsider to finish in the National was the favourite, Mr. George Alexander, who achieved the victory by a neck over the runner-up, Mr. E. J. O'Connell.

Chaser had three winning runs in the National, but was beaten by the favourite, Mr. George Alexander, who achieved the victory by a neck over the runner-up, Mr. E. J. O'Connell.

New Rand to London radio phone opened

A NEW direct radio-telephone between Johannesburg and London has just been opened to cope with the heavy traffic on the world's second busiest radio-telephone circuit. The business course in London-New York is still an experimental stage. The increased facilities, trade links and the flow of information and news from Africa to Europe and vice versa, are expected to be maintained and improved.

But in Moscow...

It is reported that the radio-telephone between Johannesburg and London is not yet open to the public. The Johannesburg office of the Rand Telephone Company is expected to be opened in the near future.
