

Abstract:

In his book "Cultural gap and economic crisis in Africa", Peter makes an analysis of the economic crisis that the African continent is experiencing, highlighting the positive and negative the colonial regimes have produced in the Country. The author recognizes and emphasizes the need for Africa to be able to develop their own culture and to disclose it to reach the rest of the world in the present and crucial turning point .