

The African Leadership Centre will today host a Public Lecture by Prof Sir Lawrence Freedman on "Strategy The Art of Power". The event will be held from 2:15pm to 4:30pm at the African Leadership Centre, Jacaranda Avenue, in Lavington.

Sir. Lawrence Freedman is a Professor of War Studies, Kings College London, and is currently the Vice Principal of Strategy and Development at King's College London.

Prof. Freedman has written extensively on contemporary Defence and Foreign Policy Issues particularly on nuclear strategy and the Cold War.

The African Leadership Centre (ALC) was established in Kenya in June 2010 as a joint initiative of King's College London and the Institute for Development Studies, University of Nairobi. The ALC is a Pan African centre of excellence on peace, security and development in Africa. It trains and mentors young Africans with the potential to lead and enable innovative change in their communities and in the region.
