

Afro Fiesta Desi Soul is an annual event hosted at Kalamazoo College every 8th week of Spring quarter by resident student organizations. The name Afro Fiesta Desi Soul was drawn from the organizations Kalama Africa (Afro), The Latino Student Organization (Fiesta), KDesi (Desi) and the Black Student Organization (Soul). The event has also grown to include others such as the Caribbean Society, Young Men of Color and the Asian and Pacific Islander Student Association.

The event is based on every individual or student groups gathering to showcase their culture to promote cultural awareness in the college. Different students came together to experience and witness true diversity and to appreciate these diverse cultures. In addition, the different organizations make food assembled from their cultures. The two international students from the UoN - Elizabeth Wanjala and Thomas Nganu coordinated the presentation of Fahari ya Kenya Tea and promoted Kenyan traditional attire. Elizabeth wore the Maasai bead necklaces and wrist bands while Thomas wore a shirt made of the Maasai red 'shuka'.
