- * The year 2015 started with a high note for the 2014/5 students; with end of their first semester Exams, this is the time when students do an evaluation of themselves in relation to their semester class involvement. Kenya science Campus is a stress free environment examination notwithstanding.

- * When it comes time to study for final exams, there is one thing that separates the frazzled students bouncing around the library from the relaxed Kenya science students who seem to take all the stress in stride; the happy students just don't care too much. Ask one of the calm, cool and collected KSC students why they aren't stressed over exams and they'll probably tell you that they have bigger things on their minds. That's Kenya Science
