

UoN maintains top position in the region

The University of Nairobi has maintained its lead in the region in the just released Webometrics Ranking July 2015.

UoN has been ranked positions 7 in Africa and 923 in the world, ahead of all other universities in the region.

University of Cape Town was ranked first in Africa, with Stellenbosch University and University of Witwatersrand taking position two and three respectively.

Among Kenyan universities, Moi University was ranked second, followed by Kenyatta University, Egerton University and Jomo Kenyatta University of Agriculture and Technology.
