

Foreward.

Date and time:

Wed, 2013-05-15 18:40

The Finance Department of the University of Nairobi occupies a central position in the Administration and Finance Division. It is the department responsible for managing the University's financial resources, with the University currently running an annual budget of approximately Kshs 11 billion.

The Department also plays a major role in the acquisition of other movable and immovable assets. In its operations, the Department has undertaken to observe principals of prudent resource management.

As a major central Unit, the Finance Department has to deal with . many clients and stakeholders. Prompt and friendly service is therefore paramount. Although service delivery has improved greatly in the last few years, there is still room for improvement.

Our Service Charter explains the kind of services on offer, and what our clients should expect. We have given our commitment. Let us receive feedback from you, for your continual support.

